

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

Episode 38

Welcome loves to today's episode. I have a Story Time episode for you today and this was inspired by a question someone asked on my Q&A box that I put up on my IG stories the other day. If you're not following me on Instagram, I invite you to follow me right now at Oath Oracle. I share a lot of stuff on there that does not make it on the podcast.

I share tons of astrology things on there. New and full moon astrology for business, all that good stuff. And I do Q&A boxes every now and again in my stories on there. So someone asked me, how did you get into astrology? And I realized I was like, have I not told this story on my podcast, and I even double checked with my team.

And no, we did not tell this story yet. So I'm going to take you down a walk down memory lane today of exactly how I got into astrology and how that ended up blossoming into this amazing seven figure soul business that has totally changed my life.

So a little background on me. I experienced a lot of darkness as a child. I had a very unstable and chaotic upbringing. I have CPTSD, which is complex childhood post-traumatic stress disorder, from a variety of different experiences, compounded multiple different experiences from being around substances, substances being abused around me, a lot of moving and a lot of uprooting, a lot of dark energy.

I actually had sleep paralysis, thousands upon thousands upon thousands of times for as, since as young as I can remember until 2015, when my healing journey really clicked in and I totally changed my energy and I literally cured my sleep paralysis.

Let me know if you want an episode on that. That's a real weird deep dive to get into. I don't want to, like, open that Pandora's box right now, but if you know, you know, if you've ever struggled with sleep

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

paralysis, you know, and in my experience, it was directly connected to dark entity attachment. But I was born into that, so I didn't for as long as I can remember, I had sleep paralysis almost every single night, and that alone was a huge trauma.

And now I literally haven't had it even one time in years. So I did cure that. And let me know if you want to hear more about that. It's a very niche kind of dark topic, so I'll just wait for the invitation on that one. So as a child, I also had undiagnosed Autism and ADHD. I received my Autism and ADHD diagnosis just a few months ago.

As I'm recording this now, it's been like less than six months, which has already been absolutely life changing for me. Once again, if you know, you know. If you are neurodivergent, autistic, and you received a diagnosis, it is very life changing when you realize this level of deep recognition on the ways that you were different, that was hard to understand when we were younger.

So a lot of these things compounded together. I was, in my perspective, I was neglected in my childhood. I was alone a lot. I didn't know what was going on very often. I did not know what was going on. And I felt just extremely, extremely, extremely alone. And I felt afraid all the time. I felt afraid in my bedroom.

I felt afraid at night. I would try and sleep other places than my bedroom. Like that was just. There was a lot of energy and a lot of dark energy. There was a lot of unprocessed trauma around me flying around. And as a highly sensitive person who didn't understand boundaries or energetic boundaries or grounding, or even that I deserved love.

For example, because I wasn't really receiving a lot of it in my perspective. It all compounded to me just basically being in a lot of misery, so I don't look back on my childhood as a time of happiness, where I don't look back on my school years as a time of happiness. I'm sure there were some moments where I had some laughs.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

But overall, it was very challenging. And so by the time I was 14, which is when I first discovered astrology, I was now an angsty little teenager. I was now a little edgelord. Like, I was just edgy. I hope I'm using that phrase correctly. I hope I didn't just call myself something terrible by using those terms.

I don't really know what it means, but what I'm trying to say is I was a little edgy, little brat. I got my lip pierced, I would dye my hair and cut it myself. I was wearing, like, dark makeup. I was listening to, like, metal music and rock music, Tool, A Perfect Circle, which was awesome, by the way.

I was getting into Radiohead at that time, and I was just like finding my individuality, even though I still felt very, it was very hard for me to function. It was very hard for me to get to school. I didn't really experience much healthy discipline as I was growing up, so I didn't have the skills to, yeah, I just couldn't really get myself to school.

And when I was at school, sometimes I would go just for math because I loved math. Nerd alert over here. I just naturally, really understood math. And I found a lot of, actually found it very fun. So sometimes I would go just for math class or just for music class, and I would skip the rest. I skipped up to 45% of the school year.

And I spent a lot of time in all my school years just kicking rocks on the playground by myself. Now that I know that I was autistic all that time, it brings a new level of understanding where I just didn't feel in resonance with people. I felt afraid, I didn't know how to open up. I barely even knew that I existed because that's what can happen if you don't get a lot of mirroring when you're a child.

So mirroring is your parents being very present and alert and making a lot of eye contact with you and asking you, like, how was your day? What happened? Like asking questions about what was going on. I don't have memories of that ever happening, and I feel that I kind of didn't really feel like I existed in a way.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

So, then in school and interacting with all these other people and all these nervous systems, like everyone else's nervous system around me, everything, it was a lot. And I was kind of like this wide open channel. Also being a Pisces moon in the eighth house, being very psychic, I was just this open, unprotected channel.

And so I felt extremely overwhelmed. That's also an autism experience as well. Just feeling very overwhelmed. And it was the sensation of being there was almost unbearable as a very, very strong sensation. So I spent a lot of time at school skipping school, hiding places, kicking rocks by myself. And, we would also move a lot, so we would often move in the middle of a school year.

I would, if I did manage to make any friends. All of a sudden I was torn away from that school and I was placed into another school. And so I felt very rootless, like I didn't have roots, I didn't have safety, I didn't feel like I was held. Now I do want to make a, like, what am I trying to say?

I want to make a little statement here, a little caveat, a little fine print. I am so grateful now for my family. And I understand that they truly did do the best that they could. Our parents' generation didn't necessarily have the same level of access and privilege to, like, they're not getting Reiki every week and doing past life regressions, like transmuting their karma and stuff like that.

Oftentimes they're in survival mode. My parents came here in refugee status to Canada. I was the first member of my immediate family. I'm the only member of me and my siblings and my immediate family to be born here in Canada. Now, my nieces and nephew were born here. So, you know, I have a lot of understanding and I have a lot of love for my family.

That being said, it was very hard for me and I felt very alone and I was in a lot of pain that I didn't understand. And the people around me didn't have the capacity to understand either or try to understand or, you know, show much concern or see that I was actually kind of in crisis. So by the time I was 14, I was very like, fuck the world like Bleep.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

You know, I was angsty anger hormones. I was like getting all yeah. I was just finding, probably my dark feminine energy was coming through. And you know, I was just trying to figure out life and I didn't know where I belonged and I didn't know if I belonged anywhere. I was kind of in this energy of, I didn't ask to be born, you know?

That saying and the kid on TV is like, I never asked to be born. Funny thing is, yeah, we did ask to be born. We just don't have a memory of doing that as a soul. But that's a whole other story. So here I am, 14 years old. There were times, long periods of time that I just lived with my mom, long periods of time I just lived with my dad because they would like separate and all these things just constant chaos.

I felt like I was just being thrown around by chaos. I felt like I had no say in my life, and I was just getting tossed by the waves constantly and very exhausted, and I felt like no one saw me and I felt very unseen. I felt very misunderstood. I was often seen as a troublemaker in school because my energy you know, I'm sure my energy was quite dark in a way, because I was like, very, I'm a Leo Rising and I'm an Aquarius. I have a lot of fixed energy in my chart. I'm not. I've never been shy. So even if I was not good with social skills and I was introverted and kept to myself and independent, I wasn't actually shy.

So what that meant was sometimes I would say things that challenge the teacher. I would try and, you know, outsmart the teacher with my intelligence and challenge what they were saying. And so I was kind of seen like a little troublemaker, even though I wasn't really doing anything bad. and yeah, so I felt very misunderstood. Then one day, I'm on my computer, and I had a computer from a young age because my dad worked for a time in like, computer building and engineering kind of land in tech and stuff.

So I had a computer a little bit before other people my age, which funny how it all comes full circle right now. I work online, make my own graphics. I used to be, when I was 14, making graphics on like a cracked version of Photoshop and coding very basic pages with HTML, just writing HTML. Not fluently, but like I could write it and make basic things without looking it up and just like, type it out,

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

like back in the day, if you if you know, you know, this episode is full of if you know, you know, for like people born in the 80s like me, late 80s, early 90s.

I used to just do that stuff for fun and funny how life comes full circle. I am still doing the majority of the graphic design in my business now, so it's just interesting. So here I am, 14 years old. I'm chilling on my computer. Might have been either skipping school or just like avoiding my family.

You know, we didn't do family dinners together. Really. Sometimes we might be in front of the TV doing that, but it just. I just felt like I didn't know what the fuck was going on. And I was just day by day, just extremely dissociated. I was also surrounded by a lot of dissociated people because of just, substances and unprocessed trauma, and I just didn't know what was going on in life or why I was here.

And then one day I'm on my computer. I remember it like it was yesterday, and I don't even know how I found it. But I just came across a website. It's astrology hyphen online.com. It still has the exact same layout that it did fucking 21 years ago. And I came across an article on the sun sign Aquarius, so I knew I was in Aquarius for however long, I knew about that.

And I didn't, I didn't really know about it. So maybe I was looking it up because, like, I was thinking about it or something or, you know, I read like horoscopes and magazines and newspapers and maybe this was my first time looking it up online. And the article that's still there, it's still the exact same article on Aquarius Sun, and it has articles on all the time signs, the article that I read shattered me.

I still remember the first moment I laid eyes on that website, and even just the first list of words that describe Aquarius. And as I read through the article, it was like mind blow, mind blow, mind. I almost wanted to stand up and scream or something like that, because for the first time in my life, I felt seen and understood. Even though no one was seeing me. I was in front of a screen, but now I'm getting emotional.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

This is the thing guys. I was feeling seen by spirit, by life, by the cosmos, and by my own soul self. And I want to say this part right here, specifically to anyone who our parents weren't capable, even if they had all of the best intentions, if our parents were incapable to give us the love that we craved, the place to get that love is spirit.

And so, for the first time in my entire life, I felt seen and understood, and I felt acutely aware of something larger than myself. And I went from feeling that there was nowhere that I belonged to feeling, I wasn't fully conscious of it in this way that I'm about to say, but it was the first time that I was aware of the feeling of this, which is that I was a part of a greater plan, that I was a part of a greater divine order, that I was a part of an orchestra of all of our unique energies and unique tones, playing in these specific ways through the lens and filter of not just our sun sign. Of course, later I found out, but it's our entire chart.

So I couldn't. I didn't put those words to it in that moment, but the sensation that I felt was like a waterfall. It was like one. It was like a shattering of the matrix that was around me. So matrix is just a structure that surrounds us, and it's like I was in a very small one and it suddenly shattered it so that I was feeling this connection to everything that was above me, like my crown was finally able to reach like my soul south and spirit and the sky.

And then also it was this awareness that I did belong here. How could an article written by someone who doesn't even know I exist describe parts of me that the people that were closest to me in my life could not even recognize, describe, and put words to parts of me. That I could not even put the words to myself.

Yet having it be illuminated in that way was almost like welcoming me home. Welcoming me home. Back to the human race, which I felt like I was not really a part of. The gravity, the potency, the impact of that moment was like a slap in the face, a punch in the gut, like standing under a waterfall of light. Like awakening, like my third eye opening and awakening to life. Being a fuck of a lot bigger than I had

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

thought that it was. That I was known. I was known on such a deep level, seen and recognized on such a deep level, not necessarily by the people that were sharing my home with me and my blood, my genes, but by life itself, by spirit itself, by the cosmos themselves.

And I think that was a form of a union between me and my solo self from which I had. I don't believe we can be truly disconnected from our soul, self, but I had an illusion of disconnection. So that was a shattering experience. It opened my heart up real big, that's for sure. That's for sure. The wall around my heart crumbled a lot in that moment because it was like I was being welcomed back into existence.

A year after that, a year ish. Some time after that is when I moved away from home and dropped out of school. It wasn't directly connected, like, oh, now I know what my sun sign means so like that, that one thing leads to another and I leave my home. It wasn't quite like that, but I would say that it opened me and shattered my being in a very positive way, shattering me open so that I went from being in a deep freeze for the first 15 years of my life to being in fight-flight.

So I up regulated from being totally frozen, paralyzed, feeling like I had no choice, feeling like life didn't mean anything. Feeling like I don't even know what I'm doing. Just totally being on autopilot to waking up out of that and entering into a fight or flight. Now, it's not the most amazing mode to be in, but it was a mode of me taking charge of my life.

It was a mode of me breaking and disrupting the pattern that I had felt stuck in, frozen in. It was me up regulating and mobilizing my energy and breaking through and refusing the experience that I was having and choosing to jump into the unknown. Now, super funny, was a funny, I don't know, but I recently was doing a class for the full moon, the lunar eclipse in Libra, and the solar eclipse in Aries.

It was here at the time that I recorded this. We're in early 2024, in March and April 2024 is when we had these eclipses. So for eclipse season of this year, we looked back on the previous times that the North Node was an Aries. In the South, the nodes, whether it was the North or South Node being an Aries and Libra axis.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

And one of these times was 20 years ago. Around, I can't remember the exact dates right now, but it was 20 years ago, around the exact time that I left home. The North Node was in Aries and that was me jumping out of my window, leaving my home, boldly going where I didn't know what the fuck I was going to do or how it was going to work following that North Node without even knowing that it was a thing.

So it's really powerful sometimes to look on past events, really major past pivots and shifts in our lives. And looking at the astrology, if you're interested in learning astrology, it's such a powerful way to learn and really understand the energy on a very profound level. Not just reading words, but seeing how that actually played out in pivotal times in our lives.

So I left my home and a lot of things happened. I worked, I lied about my age. I had different jobs. I worked in the service industry, all kinds of stuff, all kinds of stuff. Some things I won't say on my podcast. All kinds of stuff happened. and I, you know, just figured things out.

I lived with roommates. I remember back when rent was $475 CAD a month in a share house with mold, with rats. part of the ceiling was missing, and they put the see-through thick plastic up there. And you could literally see the bottom of the rats and their tails and, like, hear them scurrying around. It was absolutely fucked.

But it was a place for me to be. The house was very slanted. I did get mold poisoning there a couple of years later and eventually moved. I got mold poisoning on my I think it was my 18th or 19th birthday, actually, after a particularly bad rain, because it was leaking in the laundry room. And then it got into the carpet.

So, yeah, a lot of things happened. I threw myself into life, which is a very North Node transiting through Aries, activating my ninth house, which is all about adventure and exploration and new

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

experiences. And I followed that intuitively through my inner compass without even studying astrology to that depth at that time.

And we're going to fast forward the story quite a bit here. This is not going to be a whole life story episode yet for now. But as I continued on I found a place to be in my job. Okay, so I have a lot of earth in my chart, although my big three is,

I'm Aquarius sun. I'm a Pisces moon, which is water, Aquarius is air, I'm a Leo rising, which is fire. Fire, Air and Water are my big three. But actually most of my placements are in Earth signs, so I found that I could go to work, have a place to be. I needed to make money and I just always had an attunement and alignment towards creating my security because I know I didn't have that security net of my parents and family supporting me.

I also found that my social skills really got to develop in those spaces. I was doing customer service, I was working in cafes, and I had a place to be. So I made my friends through work and I just tried to exist. I still was in this level of, like, I wasn't connected to my purpose.

I didn't know what I was really doing. I still had quite a lot of unprocessed trauma, like, a lot of it. But I was happy enough to be having new experiences, to be meeting new people, to be reading. And what I did, I would work full time. I always looked for jobs that were 40 hours because I also. there's other reasons for my security, like borderline obsession.

And that's my South Node being in the second house, which is about material possessions. The South Node is past life karma, and my South node is in Virgo, which can have the shadow of working a lot and productivity addiction. But I needed a place to be. I needed a place to exist. I had so much unprocessed trauma and autism overwhelm that me just being in stillness and hanging out, felt way too intense for me.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

So I needed a place to direct my energy. So I found that I did quite well at working at cafes and I would often get promotions and I just like I gave my all at work because it was very painful to just be in my body and just be in my energy and my emotions. So I had a place to like.

I'm a passionate person. I had a place to put that passion. It wasn't necessarily that meaningful to me in terms of my vision and my purpose, but it gave me as a human a purpose, a place to be where I wasn't wondering, what the fuck am I doing here? And I was getting paid. I was creating security for myself. I was getting my rent. I was, you know, buying clothes and exploring being an adult or trying to, even though I was still a teenager.

I also was doing quite a lot of drinking. Anyone who's worked in the service industry, if you know, you know, there is a lot of going out for drinks afterwards or someone buying alcohol even if you're not old enough to drink. And I was doing a lot of alcohol at that time.

What I would do, what my life revolved around is, work, hanging out with my friends from work, and then studying astrology. So on my days off, or if I came home from work and I didn't hang out with anyone after work, all I wanted to do was read my books and study astrology.

I read a lot of fiction, so I wasn't reading to learn, I just always loved literature, I read a lot of books and I studied astrology online, mostly articles, YouTube, googling, just whatever. People always ask me like, oh, who are your favorite astrology authors? It's like, honestly, I learned from everyone on the internet. Like I just Googled blogs, articles.

I don't even know who a lot of them are written by. I was just devouring it because everything that I read felt like a remembrance. I never guys, I have never taken a note on astrology. I have notebooks and notebooks and notebooks full of business coaching and the insights I've gained from masterclasses or healings or sessions with my coaches and mentors.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

I have never taken a single note on astrology. There was something about reading astrology that it was just a remembrance of what was already inside me. It was just like, yep, yes, yeah, I know this. Yeah. It was just full, like absorption.

It's like it was lighting up parts of my brain and my being that already knew this. And that's something I've only really mostly experienced with astrology. And that's something that lets me know, you know, it's not my first lifetime studying astrology because it was just like, yep, yep, resonance of truth. Yes, this is true. Yeah. That's true, that's true.

This is true truth, truth, truth. And that's how I gained everything I know about astrology. I would just devour, absolutely devour anything I found about astrology, newspapers, books, articles, online YouTube channels. It's like it wasn't even about the specific teachers. For me, it's that they were connecting me to that reservoir of remembrance and knowledge. Deep, deep, deep spiritual knowledge of the sacred sciences. It's like they were reintroducing me.

And guys, I didn't start my business till I was 31 years old. My study of astrology was purely for pleasure. So nowadays, now that online business has gotten a lot more popular, now that there's a course on everything, which I love, I love online courses, digital, education, all that kind of stuff. But nowadays there's a lot of studying something for an ulterior motive, studying something because we think we can sell it, studying something because, oh, let me do this eight week course and I'm going to do sessions doing this because it seems cool. It seems trendy.

I studied astrology for me always, always, always for me because of the feeling of rightness, because of the feeling of empowerment and expansion, the sensation in my heart that nothing else in my life ever fucking gave me. The yes, yes, more, more, yes. I wasn't like, oh, I should go do my course on astrology. It was like, I cannot wait to get home and sit at that computer and totally lose track of time being in full and utter flow state for the first time in my life, and tap in and plug in.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

Plug into this cosmic energy that feels like home to me and feel my mind feel these like neural pathways sparking and activating all over my mind. Like washing through and activating the entirety of my brain. And the rightness, the correctness that I felt deep in my soul and deep in my heart. I just got lost in it. It was like I was calling on.

It was like I was traveling. And it's funny because the astrological house of education, higher education is the ninth house. The ninth house rules higher education, including university degrees, like deep education, scholarship. And the ninth house also rules travel and other cultures and religion. So it's interesting how it felt like I was literally going on an adventure through learning and how in our society, education and learning is so distorted because we are conditioned to think.

It's about remembering information that we don't care about and regurgitating it so that we don't fail a test and get left behind. That's what the school system felt like to me. I know not everyone had, oh no. Many people had a good or some people, and a lot of people hopefully had a really great experience with education and teachers who really cared and great institutions of education.

That wasn't my experience. My experience was: memorize these things you don't care about. Why? Because we told you to, then regurgitated in this certain specific way. And if you don't, you'll be left behind. Where the way astrology, which is a cosmic map of existence and the highest potentials of human beings, the way that views education is an adventure.

And I felt like I was going on an adventure of a lifetime every time. I literally couldn't wait to get home and start studying. I literally couldn't wait to wake up when it was my weekend and like, you know, go to sleep on that last day of working and then wake up and it's the weekend and I make a coffee and I have nowhere I need to be.

I also had not a lot of friends. I was a lot younger than the people that lived in my house, like the housemates that shared that place, that I didn't have a lot of friends other than my work friends. And

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

yeah, I just got to plug in and just fill my self that's so wanted a place to be and something to dedicate to and something to devote myself to, something to pour into, that would pour into me.

And it really was this like infinity symbol of it gave me so much. It gave me so much. And I started to see the patterns playing out. I started to be able to read the signs. I started to be able to read life and the people around me in a new way. And that's when I started to bring it in with, you know, conversations with my coworkers and just started out with sun signs at first for a couple years, right?

Like, oh, you're a Taurus, okay, you're a Gemini. And that I am noticing and connecting and observing and, as someone who's neurodivergent, who's always been observing people and who has a natural affinity towards things like math and patterns, pattern recognition, it was just like click, click, click, click, click, click, click, click, click, click. I feel I have a very unique astrological understanding, and I get that as feedback from a lot of people.

You know, I'm an astrologer's astrologer. I've taught people from the level of literally never looking at their chart before. To top astrologers out there in the space who have way bigger followings than I do. And I believe that it's because I see my journey with astrology as inside out. I didn't have one teacher tell me what was what.

It was an inner journey that was led by something that, almost led by something so much greater than myself, that I almost just felt this pull, this mysterious pull to go here and go here. Go ahead. Click, click. Yep yep yep. I never forgot anything I ever learned. I mean, I may have, but like if I don't remember, I don't remember right. But I never had to go back and look it up again. I'll say that much. I never had to take a note.

I never had to go back. Double check. I never had to be like, what was that again? It just was like, yep, yep, yep. It's like it was turning switches on in my mind that already existed. So I feel that my journey with astrology has been very from the inside out. And I also teach this in my teachings, in my deep astrology teachings.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

And when people ask questions, why do I use a certain house system? Or why do I use this and why do I use this? It really comes from this inside out way of running things through my body and knowing the resonance of truth. That's why some things I work with and some things I don't when it comes to astrology.

noun

And that's not because those things are wrong, but it's because I know the resonance of truth for me, and I know the resonance of not truth for me. And I just keep following that mysterious golden thread. I keep following that path. And it's so wild because this is what I teach now when it comes to my business, the path of purpose is a mystery path.

It's not a path you have all figured out right from the start. So many people are waiting for a guarantee before they take a step on their path of purpose, and they're robbing themselves of the most profound fulfillment of being on your purpose path. So I was walking that purpose path, having no idea that it was my purpose path.

I was just following the mysterious calling. I can feel it right now in my womb. I can feel it right now up through my solar plexus. I can feel it right now, through my heart. How it was just calling me forward and quenching this thirst that I had to feel connected to life itself.

I used to feel so victimized that I didn't have a lot of interpersonal connection, and especially the family love that I felt a lot of envy and jealousy when other people had that like, oh, why didn't I have that? Poor me.

Bro, the connection of being connected to the entirety of the cosmos and spirit. I won't say it's better, or that we have to choose between one or the other, but if I needed to go through everything I went through as a child to be the open vessel and to have this level of passion and this level of availability. I didn't have much else going on in my life to throw myself into the sacred science with everything that I had and everything that I am, and be so open.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

I wasn't memorizing info, I was being penetrated by the cosmic knowledge. And people sometimes asked me, where did astrology come from? They want the scientific explanation. Oh yeah, the planets and their gravitational pull and their electromagnetic fields. I don't even think it's that y'all. I don't see it like that. I don't see it like that. I see the planets as directly connected to the evolution of human consciousness, and that they're reflecting things to us, not causing things, but allowing us to look at ourselves and the greater cosmic order and the greater divine plan that is unfolding and rippling out in past, present and future all at the same time.

It was and is orgasmic and ecstatic for me to connect to this. And if I had to feel like an outsider for a long time to be available for this deep level of basically being an Aquarius, the sacred rebel, the black sheep, the one who's connected to cosmic genius. That's what Aquarius represents. Then I am so grateful for all the pain I experienced and all that loneliness. I truly am.

I truly, truly am. I would not fucking change it for the world at this point. So I had my teens. I had my 20s and somewhere in there in the late teens. So a few years into my just loving astrology and reading all about the signs and the planets, I started to read the round chart.

I started to read the circle chart. So I wasn't even doing that for years. So there's people that come into my world. They're just starting in with astrology and they're learning to read charts from me. And that's so amazing because they're literally saving themselves of years, collapsing years of time of trial and error through working with me early on in their journey.

And we also have people who are far along in their journey that are working with me in getting depth, deeper layers, other angles, more embodied understanding, deeper integration. I'm so proud of that. I'm so proud that every level of astrology, people's like every level that they could be at is like benefiting in my spaces because I'm delivering the quintessence.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

So my purpose key in my gene keys is quintessence, and that is what I'm able to deliver to you. I'm a projector, which means I'm here to guide and tell you what I see. I penetrate very deeply into whatever I'm studying. I'm a 1/3 in Human Design. The one is the investigator. I study to the most profound depths possible, and as a three line, I fuck around and find out.

Through trial and error, I gain embodied wisdom and experience, and my incarnation cross in Human Design is literally the right angle cross of explanation. I'm literally here to explain. And I have a defined throat. I have the genius to freak channel like I am literally here to deliver the transmission, not just through the information in my mind, but through the energetic transmission of my embodied understanding of how deeply I have been penetrated by this information.

Oh yeah, I now realize I didn't finish the thought from before where people asked me where did astrology come from? I believe that it was just simply channeled from the cosmos and the cosmic energies and potentially even cosmic entities that are here helping us evolve. So, for example, Arcturians, Pleiadian, Syrians like and entities and energies and frequencies and levels of consciousness that have been transmitting to us through our central sun, which gives us information through light and light codes and solar codes.

And I believe that that's how all over the world astrology was channeled and received. So it's not that we discovered it, it's that it was channeled and received. So that's how I feel with my journey with astrology, is that it penetrated into me and I received it, and it awakened what already was there. And it turned on the switches that already were there from past lives.

So that's just my perception. We can go deeper into that in another episode. But okay, so in my teens and my 20s, I'm now reading the round chart, and now in my 20s, I'm meeting more friends because I went traveling in Costa Rica for the first time when I was 20 years old, and that was 15 years ago.

And that was another time that there were some really powerful transits going on. And, I look back on that time because that was when I had my first trip, my first time traveling. And through doing that, I

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

met a lot more hippie people. So I used to be friends with hipster people. I just happened to live in a house with a bunch of musicians and like, hipster, total hipster vibes, and they were all a lot older than me.

So I just felt like, yeah, a little outsider, a like little sister vibes. And they weren't really my friends and more like my housemates. I still felt really alone. Then when I went on my first time traveling when I was 20 to Costa Rica, which was very synchronistic and really aligned. that's a whole other story.

But I met now more spiritual people and it was very like New Age spirituality, and I had a whole journey of trying to be in that world and then realizing getting a lot of the shadow of that world, like gaslighting, spiritual bypassing, a lot of stuff that I actually was not comfortable with, that I had to fuck around to find out.

I went into that world, and years later I left that world. But through entering into that world, I was meeting people that were talking about astrology. Because guys, 20 years ago, astrology was not very common. And it was weird to like it. And I remember people sometimes, you know, I remember being at a party when I was like 20, that was 15 years ago, and I was outside getting some air at a house party, and I was outside getting some air on the patio.

And there were a bunch of people around this, smoking and hanging out. And I picked up a newspaper and the newspaper. I was reading the horoscopes. Then the guy saw me and he was like, oh God, don't tell me you believe in that astrology bullshit. And I was like, well, yeah, I do like, what's your sign?

And he was like, Cancer. And I read and what it said, and he was like, that's the exact opposite of what my day was. And in my head I'm just like, yeah, yeah, Cancer shadow of defensiveness, being unsafe with what's unfamiliar. I don't know, like, sticking with what's traditional. Like, we all got our shadows and it was just a funny experience because that's how it used to be back in the day.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

It used to be embarrassing. It used to be this embarrassment. And now, as I speak about very openly, I might have mentioned this on my podcast before, by the way, guys, in case you didn't know, the ruling class has always utilized astrologers. So from ancient Sumeria, ancient China, ancient India, ancient Egypt, ancient Mayan civilizations, ancient Rome, ancient Greece, the emperors and kings and ruling class always had astrologers.

Astrologers were considered the intellectual elite. They were always advising the kings. Do you think that that changed randomly at some point? Because what I think is that ruling, and we see this in the dates that are chosen for election days, the dates that are chosen for major military actions, the dates that are chosen for like, negotiated, major things, always happen in very potent astrological times.

Do you think it's a coincidence? I definitely don't, and I believe that the conditioning among the common person, that astrology is a joke and it's a pseudoscience and it's so stupid. It's something that was intentionally placed within the collective so that we would disown that resource, and so that we would reject the power that astrology could give us, so that the ruling class could consolidate it that much more and use it to their advantage that much more.

And someone asked me at my eclipse session, you know, I'm so glad. Or she said, like, I'm so glad you're bringing such an empowering side of the eclipse because I keep hearing all this fear mongering stuff that elites use the eclipse for dark purposes. And I was like, oh, well, thanks for recognizing my empowering point of view.

But I also agree, elites absolutely use the eclipse for dark purposes. I 100% agree with that, but that doesn't mean we should run away from something that we could be using too for the light, because I believe part of the conditioning that people have in this role, astrology, it's fake and it's made up. It's like, bruh, thousands of years, civilizations all over this globe that had no way that we know of to communicate with one another.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

This is a sacred science. It's the source code of the matrix. Who does it serve for the common person to think they shouldn't be touching that when the ruling class are using it and have always been using it? To me, that means we should use it for the light that much more. Not that we should, all elites use the eclipse, so let's run away from the eclipse and let them have it.

Not. That's not my style. Okay, so we had a lot of tangents. So let's get back to the story. If you're still listening to this, you are a real one and I fucking love you. Okay, so I'm now in my 20s. I met all these, like, spiritual people. My first trip, I was 20, I was in Costa Rica.

People are like, I'm doing meditation retreats. I'm exploring psychedelics. People are into astrology. This is becoming normalized. And I started learning a lot more, and I started even finding workshops and finding moon ceremonies and making these connections and realizing like, wow, other people are into this. What? I had no idea for years. I had no idea.

Then when I clicked into my friend group in Vancouver when I was in like 25 to 27, I would say like 27 is really when I clicked in with my good friend group in Vancouver, actually, sorry if this is confusing, but in my early 20s, actually, no, that's not even true. I connected with all of my best friends.

Shout out Mandy! Love you so much! I've known Mandy since I was 18 years old and we just went to Mexico together just a couple months ago in January, so we were still so tight, such amazing friends and me and her when we lived together years ago, as housemates and like, we've known each other literally for like, what, half my life?

Almost half of my life. and with her and a few close friends in that circle, that's who I first started opening up with. That's who I first started looking at their charts. That's why I first started bringing my astrology study into relationship with other people in a very close and consistent way. So not just here and there like, oh, you're into astrology too, or at a moon thing or at a workshop. Actually in an ongoing relationship of continuing to uncover the potential and power in someone's chart.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

So it's like our close friend group in that time of like, 18, 19. And then when we lived together in my early 20s and then like the other housemates and the other friend family that were part of that friend group, I would look at their charts and their moon signs and that's when it started to really become this deeper thing where people were like, Holy fuck.

When I would tell them things, they'd be like, whoa! They would have this really powerful spiritual moment because of how deeply I was seeing them through what I was seeing in the chart. So that was really breaking through some stuff of like, wow, we are all connected, this is all connected. And people were being deeply impacted by this.

Then in my late 20s, when I connected with a different aspect of my friend group in Vancouver. I don't live in Vancouver anymore, but that's where I lived most of my life, and I clicked into who are still many of my very close friends and these particular girl friends that I was really close with. These were the girlfriends that I would like, have in my database on Astro.com, in addition to the other friends from a few years before that I mentioned.

And so it would be like me, I would also look at celebrities' charts, I would look at authors who deeply impacted me, and I would look up their charts or make their charts if I could find their birth information. I would be watching movies and look up the actor, look up the director. Like, anytime something deeply impacted me in art and it was like public figures.

This is how I went from studying my own chart to studying other people's charts. So this is how I started to very organically learn to read other people's charts. I've never done a course teaching me how to read charts. I've never done that. I've never done a course or any type of mentorship to teach me how to read for other people.

It was a very, like I said, inside out situation. So as I was uncovering the secrets and the power and the magic in people's charts and seeing the impact that they were having and seeing how I was actually

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

impacting the choices they were making and the path they were getting on, and all of a sudden they're clicking in on these upward spirals and it's like, what is happening?

Feeling the magic, feeling how we're all interconnected with spirit and with the cosmos and actually impacting other people with this. Like it was so beautiful. So then in my later 20s, like 27, that's when I started to really do readings. So not just casually hanging out. Let's look at your chart and talk. But that's when I started to really do readings for my close friends.

My close girlfriends, it would be like, oh, Mercury's retrograde, and I would have everyone's thing in my database and I would leave them voice notes and I would send the messages without them even asking me, I would just be like, I would learn that Mercury's retrograde. I would look at what's going on in my chart and then I would just naturally desire to overflow this out into connecting with my friends' charts, because I wanted to see. I was just voracious for it.

I was like, oh, more and more. How else? How else can it express what is another expression of it? And I was just connecting the dots, connecting the dots, connecting the dots, and just like, oh my God, it's all connected. And just like the oneness, the unity consciousness, it is a form of ecstasy that is very hard to explain.

And so I would give them these messages and they would be like, oh my God, this is what already happened. Or yeah, this already happened. Or then it would happen like a few days later and they would be like, you prophesied, you said, this would happen. And that started to give me this validation, right?

Because projector recognition is really important for us. And it's hard to give me this validation of, like, I'm fucking on to something here I know what's going on. I look around and I see the source codes, codes of the matrix. I know what's going on. And it was this really big mind blow, because I always knew I was intelligent.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

And that's something that my family I'm really grateful for. You know, we are a family of some high ass IQ mfa's over here. Like, you know, I always was just excelling. I failed eighth grade, and I got a 98 in math, you know what I'm saying? I knew my brain had a lot going on in there, but I kind of felt after I dropped out of high school and I was doing a lot of partying, I kind of felt like I wasted my potential.

I forgot to mention this when my 20s to 27, like those years of traveling a lot and partying a lot, I really felt like I would meet people that had really cool jobs, and I would know that it was cool. I'm traveling and having these experiences, but I also knew I was escaping from my life in a way, because I didn't. I still didn't know where I belonged.

I was seeking something that I wasn't finding. I was still escaping into substances and extreme experiences, and I had a lot of unprocessed trauma, and I felt like, wow, I used to be so smart. And now it's like, I'm meeting these people who went to university and they're like an engineer.

I'm like, what am I? I'm a fucking barista. Not that there's anything wrong with that, guys. I was a barista for a long time and loved that job, but at the time, I was just being really hard on myself because I felt like, well, it's probably too late for me to go back to school. If I really wanted to, I could have, but I knew I didn't want to, and it's like, oh, if only I just like, you know, I felt I felt a bit like, poor me.

Oh, if only my family had been able to support me to keep going or helped me with homework and like, help have some healthy discipline like other people had. Or if only my family had a college fund for me, then maybe I would have been more inspired. And I just blamed the rest of the world instead of recognizing that I was actually on my path in some way.

And so I felt a little bit like I had wasted my potential because I knew I was really smart, but, what was I doing with that? And then, in the time of 27 and this was a time, was I 27 in 2015? That was. Yeah. So it was like, I have a podcast episode about the year 2015 and how that began my healing journey.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

And that's actually the year that I'm talking about. So I don't think I was 27 at that time. I'm not able to do math right now. Nine years I was yeah, I was 25. Okay, we got it. We got the age in the end, so 25. So I clicked into my Vancouver friend group. I had these new girlfriends.

They loved astrology. They were into prayer and oracle cards and tarot cards and stuff like that. Witchy stuff. They were herbalists and things like that. But I was the astrology nerd of our little village, right? We had the herbalist, we had people doing this. People do that. I was like the astrology nerd.

And so I started to do a lot of free astrology work for them, just for fun, just for my own learning, because I wanted to. I felt the natural expansion into other people's charts after doing so much work for years in my own chart, and I still do work with my own chart almost every day. I still look at my chart almost every day.

This is a thing with readings. A reading can absolutely blow your mind and illuminate every placement and house on your chart, but it can never tell you every dimension of everything because it's as complex as you are. It literally is a multi dimensional hologram. It's a holographic like thing. It's so multidimensional.

So I continue to look at my chart daily for over 20 years, but I also had the natural desire, I felt the expansion to expand into other people's charts. So I had them in my database. I would just give them messages. I don't know, random transmissions I would like look at my chart. And then I would look at this certain small inner circle of girlfriends.

And then when they would meet a guy or I would meet a guy, I would be looking at the guy's charts and doing a lot of love stuff, because at the time I was, you know, I still am, I'm just a total romantic. So it's very motivating and inspiring to study astrology when you have a crush and you want to know about them and like, there's just so much there.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

So that just started to naturally just become this way. I was contributing in my community, and then I would do free solar return readings for people, just as a birthday gift, like, hey, for your gift for your birthday, I wanted to read your solar return. And in one of my solar return readings with one of my friends who was always, still one of my closest friends and was always in that inner circle of people that I read for.

I met her, clicked in right away with her. When I moved back to Vancouver in 2015 after doing a whole bunch of traveling, and I actually skipped winter for five years. I hadn't been back to Vancouver in two years. Like, not even home to visit. Just. I was gone for two years traveling all over the world and like working holiday visa in Australia, nine months in Asia, went to Europe for four months.

I was just like all over the map, living a very wild lifestyle and doing whatever, totally throwing myself into the winds of creation and feeling pretty ungrounded and feeling a lot of my trauma come up as well, because I wasn't grounded and I actually wasn't really creating safety for myself. But then I got the intuitive call to go home.

A lot of the story is in my episode about 2015 with my first ayahuasca ceremony. So if you haven't listened to that, you might like that if you like story time. And so then this amazing friend of mine, shout out Iris, this amazing friend of mine. I decided I was like, hey babe, can I give you a solar return reading for your birthday?

I would like to give you this for your birthday because I'm practicing this and learning this right now, and I had never done a paid reading at this point. And I was gifting her this reading. So we do this reading and oh, I haven't gotten permission if I can talk about this on my podcast, but I believe that I can.

So I'm just going to go for it. And double check with her. She said to me, I am planning to be single and celibate for the next year. And this is very, sorry, sober and celibate for the next year. This was very easy for my friend Iris. She is vegan already. She already was just not doing a lot of substances.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

Doesn't drink anything like that, doesn't smoke. So it would be very easy for her to do that. Not a huge stretch at all. Like it might be for some other people. And I look at the reading and I'm like, girl, I don't think that you are going to do that. Actually.

I was like, I think you're going to meet someone. So interesting doing divination because it's learning to trust your channel. And just here's what I see. I got to tell you what I see. And I was like, I see you meeting someone, potentially meeting them online, meeting them out of nowhere. They totally just have a super strong soul connection with you that is a very transcendental, tantric type of connection as well.

Perhaps reaching transcendental sexual experiences together. Like deeply spiritual, merging, like really powerful. And they're going to come really change your life in a powerful way. They could be from another culture. They could live in another place. They could leave as quickly as they came. They might even speak another language. And I was just saying all these things.

Then I went away for a little bit. I went away on a trip, and while I was gone, she met this person and it was exactly what I said. It was exactly what I said. They met online. He was from the Netherlands. Came in really suddenly, but already was going to be leaving because he was traveling, but it ended up being a deeply committed soul bond relationship, one of those deep, powerful, soul profound connections.

And so that was really mind blowing, because when you're saying things about the future, it's like, what am I saying right now? I just got to say what I see. I just got to trust it. I got to trust what's coming through. Kind of ridiculous to be saying this because these are some really bold statements. But I just got to say what I see, and it literally happened to a T, including other details I'm not even mentioning.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

So fast forward, they're in a committed relationship, long distance because they're deeply in love. And by the way, guys, as I mentioned I'm a projector, which is a Human Design type, Human Design, by the way, is based partially on astrology and our astrological placements create the placements on our Human Design. But then there's also other systems that are interwoven with it.

Projector's strategy is to wait for the invitation. Okay, so my friend Iris, shout out, Iris invited me and she didn't know about my Human Design. We weren't deep in Human Design. I think I knew I was a projector at this time, but I wasn't deeply studying it or anything. She invites me and says, hey babe, can I just pay you to do a reading for the boyfriend that I predicted from the story before?

I don't want to say his name. Can you do a reading for him? For my partner? And can I pay you for it? Because I just want to pay you and just get a full one. And I had never offered my readings for money before. I never said, oh, I'm doing practice readings. Nothing like that. It was just so organic.

It was just following the golden thread. The path of purpose unfolded at my feet as I just took one step, one step, without worrying about the future, without thinking, what am I going to do with this skill? How am I going to market this? I didn't even think you could have a business online doing Astrology. I didn't even know that that existed.

I didn't follow businesses online. I didn't even know anyone that had a business for a really long time. And I just got this invitation. I said yes, we did the reading over zoom because he was in Europe. The reading was fucking profound. My friend Iris listened to the recording and was like, babe, I've gotten, she had had 3 or 4 paid readings with other people.

And she was like, this is the best reading I've ever heard. And I was like, damn y'all, goosebumps on my back right now. Just even talking about it. Then he told a couple of his friends, next thing you know, I have another reading booking. They tell a couple of their friends. Next thing you know, I got another reading booking.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

So in my late 20s, in the preparing years before my business, I had sometimes up to 4 or 5 readings a week purely from word of mouth with no Instagram, no Facebook, no website, and never publicly talking about it. And I used to take the bus with a printed out chart in a little file that,

Someone actually gave me a bunch of these, like little paper files, like the little file folder thing, and I would print out the person's chart on my roommate's printer, and I would take the bus and go meet them in public in a cafe in Vancouver, like Bean Around the World on Main and Broadway, if you know, you know.

And I would go to other places too. And sometimes they would come to my house. Depends who they were. Sometimes I would go to their house and one by one, click, click, click, click, click, click, click, click, click. Without ever advertising it anywhere. Until there were days that I was having two readings in a day, and at this point I had transitioned from...

So the jobs I had done over the years I was working as a barista, and I became the latte art trainer. And I even competed in latte art competitions because Mars and Jupiter in the 10th house, we just be slaying whatever the fuck we're doing. And then I ended up bartending somewhere.

So this is not, like this timeline is not perfectly aligned with the story that I'm saying. But just to give an overview. Then I was doing bartending and talking to everyone about their signs, yada yada, but I was making more money in tips and that was great. And I was creating more freedom for myself. Then I had one final bartending job, and at that time I started getting into dance and performance art, and that clicked me into this friend group as well that were full of people involved in festival community performers, singers, DJs, musicians, producers, etc. and that's like my main social circle in Vancouver.

And that gave me more purpose because now I was into performance art, and it gave me this motivation to stop being an employee. And I started doing side hustles. And so I would have sometimes paid dance gigs or paid corporate performances or perform at a festival. And then I needed

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

freedom in my schedule, because when I first started performance and I had this full time job, I would have to and I was a bartender.

I worked weekends, bartenders, they need you to work weekends most of the time, right? Where your days off are like Monday, Tuesday most commonly. But all the performances were always on weekends, so I'd constantly have to ask for this time off and hope that I would get it. And as an Aquarius, as a Mars and Taurus in the 10th house, I don't want to ask permission.

And so I switched into doing a whole bunch of side hustles. I would be the stamp girl at the dance hall reggaeton night, once a month. And I would be the door girl at this other party. Like, I just did all kinds of things. I did nude art modeling. I would be the person standing naked in a room and everyone's drawing you.

So I would do that at Vancouver Film School in the animation department, like posing and just standing there naked and people would draw me and I would do that all over the city, like I just did all kinds of side hustles. And so for the first time, there was this period of time for like two years where I had all these different side hustles, and that was my first taste of entrepreneurial energy, where I was in control of my schedule.

I had freedom, and I was making money, and I was just figuring it out. And so one of those side hustles was reading charts after this point, after I now did that first paid reading, and it led to another, which led to another. It was like little branches on a tree. Every branch led to two more, like every reading led to two more.

And through word of mouth, it just grew to the point that there were days I was making hundreds of dollars from doing two readings in a day, and not even going to a work shift and working on my feet, or bartending a wedding or something like that. So that was like, whoa, something's going on here, something's going on here.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

And people were crying in front of me. People were just like, Holy fuck! Like the look in their eyes, a look in their face that fed me on a deep level. It touched me at a place I didn't even know I could be touched. Then it was 2019. That was the year I started to invest in myself in courses.

I had started to invest in myself like a couple of years before in terms of like in person workshops here and there, like one off things, and therapy. And then in 2019, maybe I also started therapy in 2019 or 2018. Then in 2019, that's when I first invested in a course, and that's when I first started learning about the subconscious mind and our belief systems.

So I'll do another episode about that. Email me to remind me, because I might forget I said a lot of episodes I might do, so just email me if you want them, because that will really help me. Because when I channel, like I always do, I don't always remember what I say.

And so, at that point, my subconscious beliefs that I had been working on, money mindset and things like that, I was starting to recognize that my beliefs were holding me back because I still had a belief that I would never have a good job, because I dropped out of high school so many years before, like 15 years before.

And then I started to work on my beliefs, and all of a sudden I was seeing possibilities, and all of a sudden I was like, yo! Like, imagine if I had two readings every day. I don't even have a website. I don't even have a, I don't even say that I do readings anywhere, not even on my Facebook.

I didn't even say anything. It just was totally word of mouth. Only people who knew told people and they called me. They would give them my phone number and I would get calls from strangers. It was like, hey, I heard about you. Like that's how it was. And so then what happened is I looked forward at the astrology of 2020 because it was now 2019 and I could see I'm going to... I'm getting goosebumps.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

I could see that in 2020, I was not going to have job security, and there was going to be a lot of financial volatility because of Uranus in Taurus, which was entering my 10th house. On a bunch of other transits, astrologers were talking about the astrology of 2020 like 5 to 10 years before, because it's such significant astrology.

Now I didn't predict a pandemic, that's for sure. But I saw I was like, something's going all crazy in 2020. And so because I saw, all right, I'm not going to have job security for some reason, I don't know why, but for some reason I'm not going to have job security, but the same planet that creates disruption and shock, which is Uranus, which entered Taurus, which is a sign of money.

And it's still in Taurus now. And that's where we had the Jupiter Uranus conjunction. Check out my Instagram for a post on that because that's still active right now. So that was the money part then the part personal to me as the house that it was in in my chart, which is the 10th house of career, Uranus in the House of career can sometimes mean getting fired because it's shaking things up, it's causing disruption and change and even shocks.

So it's not changes that you're choosing. It shocks. But at the same time, Uranus rules the internet and it is also connected with astrology. So I was like, yo, it looks like I'm not going to have job security, but it also looks like it could be a really amazing time to make my website for readings. And it could actually blow up because Uranus is change. It isn't bad change, it's just change in general.

So I could understand these energies and work with the energies that are empowered from Uranus energy, which is literally the internet and astrology and revolution and innovation and actually go with the flow with the changes and create secure, create this other income stream for me, because it looked like some of those income streams were going to not be there because that's what Uranus can bring into the 10th house.

It is shocks and change and destabilization. So instead of being like, oh my God, I'm going to lose something, I was like, well, this is a really fucking good time to make a website for my astrology,

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

because that extra income stream could end up helping to pad if I lose something else. And it's actually really aligned with this energy, rather than fighting against the energy.

So I chose my date March 20th, 2020, based off of astrological transits. That was in October 2019. I invested in my first business container. It was over $3,000 USD, which was an absolutely gobsmacking amount of money for me at that time. That was close to $5,000 CAD. I used to make like $2 or $3000 CAD per month, and I used my credit card to get the payment, get it on payment plan and invest in myself.

And I broke down on the ground because I knew that me investing in myself in this way was taking this path seriously, and I knew I was really walking into this path, not just having this little word of mouth thing, but really claiming something. And I literally broke down in tears. I was sobbing, and then my ex partner, my partner at the time, came home and I was trying to explain.

And it was just such a profound emotional release that was happening for me because I was choosing something and this was me following my North Node, which is in the eighth house, not knowing what's going to happen. My North Node in Pisces, mysticism, eight houses, esoteric study, trust and surrender. All this kind of stuff. Letting go of the security that I had that's processing my South Node.

So it was all clicking like. I understood the assignment. I understood what the map was saying. I understood what the transfer activating, and I understood the highest potential and I fucking went for it. Then in January 2020, I had gone on a trip to L.A. to do a little dance workshop with Galen Hooks, amazing dancer and choreographer. And when I came back, I got this calling to not do my other side hustles.

I wasn't planning to go, I wasn't trying to go full time with astrology. My intention at first was creating more of an income stream. If people could find me online, I could do even more readings. I'm already doing, you know, making hundreds of dollars doing these readings. And imagine if it was more and I'll

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

just put a website out there and I'll like, you know, I wasn't thinking I'm going to go full time in my business.

But as it started to get more real and I started to study more and learn more, there just came a day because my side hustles were very like, I could just say yes or no to them. I didn't have a schedule. There came a day that I never went back to any of my other jobs in like early mid January, and I was just feeling this inner call that was almost like, and this lifeforce energy was just animating me, and I was just in this flow state and I would just sit down.

I remember we were out, me and my ex were housesitting someone's place and he would go to work for 12 hours a day, and I would sit and study from when he left, when he came home and I would take breaks to eat, and I was just drinking coffee and I was just studying free stuff, free masterclasses.

What is copywriting? What is marketing? YouTube video on branding, like color theory. I was just all over the place, too, studying everything, just devouring this information because I didn't know how to do a business. But I was going to fucking learn how. Age of Aquarius, baby. Information, internet. We're all interconnected. Information's not gate kept like it used to be.

Everything is accessible to us. So I went for it. I went for it 110%, because the astrology was mirroring and showing me the potential. It was giving me the map, and that gave me the confidence that I would not have had otherwise. Because we have a sea of everything. Everything is an option all the time. We could do anything all the time.

But astrology tells us what is the most, what's the direction that's going to have the greatest ROI? What's destined for you right now? Where is the payoff going to be? What's the aligned thing? It's the map to self-actualization. We have infinite options. Yet in my opinion, the path of self-actualization is a narrow path, and I don't think I would have had the confidence without seeing these things in astrology and knowing now's the time.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

The doors open right now and I dropped everything else and I fucking went for it. My goal was $5,000 CAD a month. I was like, if I could make that doing what I love, that would be $60,000 a year. People go to university for four years and don't even make $60 K. That was my goal and I didn't think about growing month on month on month on month.

I just thought, wow, I could do that for the rest of my life and make like $60 to $80 K. Imagine that. Imagine being able to make a full time salary doing astrology that I've been studying from the basement suite with the rats above me, scurry in the walls, and the mold poisoning. To actually taking that passion and making $5k a month, which is $60k a year Canadian.

I started my business in March 20th, 2020. December 2020 was an $18,000 USD cash received month as in not future sales. But the cash revenue that came into my business was $18,000 U.S. dollars. I never went below that. And in fact, last year I had a $122,000 U.S. dollar cash received month. That's over twice as much as what my goal was to make in a year, because my goal was $60k Canadian, this was $122k U.S, which is maybe $150-160K CAD.

My net worth, I just found this out a few days ago, is over $400,000. My business has made over 2 million CAD since March 20th, 2020. My VA is on a full time salary. Well, actually. Sorry. She's the OBM, online business manager now, is on a full time salary making more than I have ever made in my life at a job. They take time off whenever they want, they work whatever hours they want. As long as the things are done. And we are in process of getting full extended health benefits.

My subcontractors make more money than I've ever made per hour at any job before. My business, we have automatic donations that go out every single month $1,000 to the local food bank because I just walk past it. It's not called food bank here in Quebec. It's called something else. But I walked past it and I was like, what's this line? And they were like, oh, it's giving food to the community. That day I just looked them up online, found them, set up $1,000 automatic donation in addition to the other donations that we make, mostly to Indigenous communities and causes.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

I bought this apartment that I'm in right now. Awesome. Two bedroom place, over 900 square feet. I absolutely love it. In my favorite area. I bought it without even looking at it in person because it was on my Venus line and I wanted to move to my Venus line, and I didn't want to go back and forth and have a long process after the end of my last relationship, you know, I was living with my ex.

It was good, really good friends, but I was just ready to start my new chapter. So I did it. It was aligned astrologically and guess what? It looked better, it is better in person than it looked in the photos. It wasn't styled very well, had weird old furniture and it wasn't styled very well and the lighting wasn't good. And it's actually way better in person.

These are just some of the things that I've experienced from my deep understanding and journey with astrology. And now the fact that over 135 people have been through my astrology for business program, Cosmic Success Codes, and it's changed their lives, their reviews on Cosmic Success Codes literally make me cry because it's so much more than a business program. It's about self-actualization. And now this week, we have launched the next evolution and my first new astrology for business container since 2021.

It's called Cosmic Legacy. It includes the core curriculum of Cosmic Success Codes and all of the insanely valuable modules and teachings from my astrological opus. But now it's time for the evolution, because people have advanced so much from being in my world, and I realize I didn't have a higher level place for them to be mentored by me.

Other than private coaching, specific for astrology for business. Cosmic Legacy is not only all the teaching modules which continues to grow with everything that I know, everything that I know about astrology for business, which not only teaches you about astrology, but it teaches you a lot about business as well.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

Because few astrologers have the experience of not just two decades, over two decades of astrology study from the inside out, not regurgitated information, but deeply embodied remembrance, but also the experience of creating multiple millions in my business 100% organically while being myself, while being authentic, while swearing, while being neurodivergent, while healing my trauma, while going on adventures, while living an amazing fucking lifestyle.

Few have that experience. And I love business, baby. And I love teaching business. So you won't just learn about astrology. You will learn so much about business, about marketing, sales, writing, and soul business. That's what we're here for. The soul purpose work and the prosperity that we are aligned to receive for that.

So not only does Cosmic Legacy have all of the teachings that continue to grow, but we have a monthly call where you have the opportunity to be coached by me, to ask questions, to submit questions if you can't come live, and to be in community of people who are choosing the highest path of self-actualization. At the same time as choosing wildly abundant material success and real world impact through our businesses. Because I interweave the cosmic with the practical and with the grounded and with the tangible. That's my earth placements, balancing out all my cosmic other placements.

That monthly call is literally worth the entire investment of Cosmic Legacy. But you won't just get that. We also have all access within your time in Cosmic Legacy to every New Moon session, astrology masterclass, and astrology program that I put out. And now that this container is here, I am bringing out a lot more astrology masterclasses and programs because as we build now that there is a foundation of knowledge, there will be exclusive masterclasses and programs that are not open to the public because there needs to be a foundation of certain knowledge.

I can't teach people from scratch every single thing on different topics. We need to build upon that knowledge. So, for example, one of the programs that's coming up is about creating your astrologically informed product suite. And we're going to talk about physical products. We're going to talk about readings. We're going to talk about different styles, different sessions.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

You can do astrologically informed coaching because not everyone that is in Cosmic Legacy wants to be an astrologer. They may want to be their own business astrologer and use this to optimize their results and make every guise. When your business moves are aligned with astrology, everything literally creates better results like your time and energy is the most valuable currency.

So when you put your time and energy towards something and it's not aligned astrologically, you are dishonouring your own energy and getting less than the full potential results that you could get. Whereas when you put those actions in the times and moments like when to do what astrologically based on your unique blueprint, that same time and energy that you're investing creates a greater ROI, which is a return on investment.

It's optimizing your results. So whether you want to work with astrology in your offerings or not, this will support you to be your own business astrologer. But we are also going to talk about things like astrologically informed coaching, helping your clients get better results through understanding key points in astrology. And you don't even have to know how to read charts to do this.

So we'll talk about all these different levels, but I can't offer that to the public. I can't have people be like, What's Mars? It's like, no, that doesn't work. We need to have that foundation so we can go deeper. That's why Cosmic Legacy is a year long container. Guys, this is not for dipping your toe in and dip your toe out.

This is for the real real. Come be mentored by me for one year in my exact zone of genius, with everything that I learned in these 4 years about business and everything I've learned in these 21 years about astrology and self actualizing. And not only do you get that all access pass, there's also Quantum Quarters, which means once per quarter we have this very special call that is a blueprinting and visioning call and manifestation call for the quarter ahead.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

So that's a bonus call that we have four times per year. And I don't even know all the moon sessions, masterclasses and programs that are going to come out. But whatever it is, you're going to have it, you're going to get it included. So when you see me launch a masterclass or an astrology program in astrology, it's only astrology masterclasses.

I do have some masterclasses that are business only I'm going to do. I'll be doing mostly astrology coming up, but just to clarify, the masterclasses you'll receive are the astrology masterclasses, so on. So sorry if I said all masterclass. You get all astrology masterclasses, every moon session and every astrology program that's coming up. There's going to be a lot more of those coming up as well, because now that we have this container and it's the evolution that I've been waiting for, the evolution that's like just been waiting to click in for me in my business.

I'm going deeper. I'm taking you with me if you want to come. We're going all the way. We are self actualizing. We are owning our creator power. We're learning the source codes of the matrix and we are recoding. We are changing this world. This is not just about business success. Yes, we talk a lot about money. We talk about money, asteroids.

We talk about the work and wealth houses. We talk about divine timing for launches. We talk about divine timing for different financial things, even investments and things like that. So it's not financial advice. Caveats, not financial advice. But I will tell you what I do, and I'll tell you what I learned. I'll tell you what I think.

Yes, we're going to talk about money and success. We're going to talk about marketing. We're going to talk about photoshoots. We're gonna talk about anything in life. But the deeper core is we're creating the new Earth together. We're aligning to purpose. We're living the life of fulfillment that can only be accessed when we're on our actual path. And we're using astrology as a navigational tool and a map to highlight that way via a golden thread, via a golden path of purpose that unfolds every step forward, that you take for revering and studying and honouring the mystery and all those who came before us.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

Unlocking this knowledge in cultures all over the world for thousands of years. And the light codes, the evolutionary codes of advancement that touch humanity through the rays of the sun and the cosmos. So thank you guys so much for listening. If you want to learn astrology with me, if you want to be in space with me, in community with an amazing group of people, literally so diverse, all different types of industries, ages, nationalities, ethnicity, it's so vibrant already.

And we just launched in community with people who get it. And we're not just spiritual, ungrounded, new age. It's like, no, we're doing shit over here. We're building legacy. We're not transcending the body. We're descending. We're bringing the cosmic knowledge and codes, and our souls are down to inhabit our bodies, to seed into this earth and to be there for our mother, the earth.

That's what we do in here. And we're living exquisite lifestyles as we do so. Okay. I would love for you to join Cosmic Legacy. If you resonate with my style of teaching, you will love it. Oh, and the other thing is Cosmic Legacy includes the Star Stream membership, so you'll just get that included within Cosmic Legacy. If you're already part of Star Stream, message us because you can apply a credit of your month or, depending on what kind of membership you have, just contact us.

If you already were part of Cosmic Success Codes and you want to upgrade into Cosmic Legacy, contact us because we have special pricing for you guys. We have special credit opportunities for you guys. I could not be more excited. It's already changing my life. The journey is so profound. If that 14 year old girl who just felt so alone and felt like no one fucking understood her and no one saw her, could see what we've created through following that map.

Through connecting and connecting the patterns and reading the source codes. Connecting with the cosmos as a mirror. And understanding. Not only was she not alone, but she was divinely destined, connected with all of existence in a cosmic rhythm and dance of creation, and that she would learn to direct that creation and empower and activate others to do the same and live this lifestyle.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

Friends, adventures, vitality. I'm in awe. I don't know who I would be without astrology. I don't think we need it because we have everything we need, but I cannot. Personally, I was so buried and lost in trauma. I was so blind and disconnected. I don't know how I would have navigated my way out of that without it. I do meet people who are like, super intuitive.

They're living the full potential of their chart already. They get a reading from me and they're like already living their potential. And it's so fucking cool. But I know for me personally, I was so blind and lost and I don't know if I would have gotten out of that swamp without the navigation that is astrology. And it's just, yeah, I'm just in awe.

And to anyone who's still listening, just thank you for just even being here, for being interested, for hearing my story. Thank you for being part and participating in the work in whatever way that you are. And if you want to join Cosmic Legacy, I would so love to have you and welcome you in and share with you in the depth that only can be done in proper teaching, because every single module builds on from the last module.

So there's a lot that I cannot transmit here, but has to be within the full journey and the full context of Cosmic Success Code and Cosmic Legacy. And these calls are so far, I'm just going to stop gushing. I love you, I thank you so much for being here. All the links that you might need are in the show notes.

Please join us in Cosmic Legacy. You will have the abundance of every single thing. All access pass to all my astrology offerings of masterclasses, programs and moon sessions. Monthly coaching with me, opportunities to submit questions, a Telegram group to be in community. The entire Cosmic Success Code. You'll get instant access to so many hours of deep dive life changing content, the Quantum Quarters calls, and the Star Stream membership.

Link in the shownotes. Come join us in Cosmic Legacy. It's my absolute honour and let me just end it right here. Thank you for listening.