

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

Episode 39

Hello loves, and welcome to another episode. Today's episode is inspired by a transmission that I gave today inside of my Star Stream membership, which is my membership on astrology for business. So in that space, I leave audio trainings and insights and channeled messages and things like that about five times per week, and they're usually about 20 minutes long.

So if you like my podcast, definitely check out the Star Stream because it's a lot of like very, very current to real time astrological insights and then how they connect to leadership and business and world. So that's what I want to say to start us off. But something came through in today's transmission and I was like, this is timeless.

It was inspired by current astrology, as we are in Taurus season, which is a season of wealth. And the theme of this season in the Star Stream. Because in every astrological season we have a theme and the transmissions are all connected with that theme, empowering everyone inside to deepen and evolve within that theme together. And we do it as a group and it's just so powerful.

It's really active in there. Everyone's supporting each other. It's like active every single day. And I just, I love I've loved having this space. So it's been about five months and it's just an absolutely wonderful, so big shout out if you are one of these Star Streamers. So today's transmission with us being in Taurus season, we are fresh off of the Taurus New Moon and we had a really powerful 3.5 hour long New moon session diving into all this magic.

Because this is a beautiful moment and a beautiful time for manifestation. And this is an incredible time not only for individual manifestation of our dreams and our desires and our destiny, but the manifestation of the new Earth, the collective manifestation moving towards a collective new timeline and the new paradigm that we have been preparing for. That is a big reason why we have all incarnated

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

at this exact moment in time, where so much is revolutionizing and so much is in flux and so much is destabilizing.

And it's really interesting because Taurus is all about stability. So we need to stabilize in order to create a new, stable way as well. So even if you're listening to this in the future, after Taurus season, this is a timeless transmission. But I did just want to say a little bit about that context of where this transmission came from for me, and what we were talking about in the Star Stream and this season in the Star Stream is worth wealth and pleasure. So that's what we are working on.

And that's what all the transmissions are empowering people inside. So they are transmissions on current astrology on like right in alignment in real time with what is happening in the cosmos and then connecting that with practices, mindset, work, magnetism, work, manifestation, social media prompts, sales activities, business strategies, and just all of all of the beautiful, empowering pieces for those of us who are creating new Earth wells in our businesses, in alignment with our values, in alignment with our soul, and in alignment with our soul, a blueprint.

So a really powerful piece came through today, and I wanted to bring it to the podcast. So even though it was inspired by these astrological energies, it is always, always applicable. It is always relevant even if you're listening to this in the future. Hello from me in the past to you in the future. Even if you're listening to it, it's no longer Taurus season.

This transmission is forever. Okay, so what I want to bring to you today, and what I want to inquire with you about and invite you to reflect on and contemplate is where we are having limiting beliefs around what it takes to be living our destiny timeline, to be living the life of our dreams, and to really create and receive and become what it is that we desire on a deep soul level.

So let me try and unpack the essence. There's so much I want to share. Let me unpack it for you. Since we just had the new moon at the time that I'm recording this, and the new moons are times of planting

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

seeds and times of setting intention and times of getting manifestations in motion, planting seeds into the regenerative darkness of creation. The moon also represents the womb. So within that darkness it's so fertile to receive our manifestations. And it's such an amazing time to begin new cycles and new creation cycles.

But what often happens, especially, this one was in Taurus, which is literally the sign of wealth. It's literally the sign, a sign of abundance and wealth. So there were a lot of beautiful dreams coming through and people just really thinking about the future and what I, what do I want to create? What do I want to receive? Taurus is associated with the Empress archetype in tarot, and the Empress just has it all. She really has it all. And it's not about greed and excess.

It's about having a balanced life that feels so good to us and that feels really fulfilling to us. So that's what we all want, right? We don't want these arbitrary numbers. We want freedom. We want a sense of having more than enough. We want a sense of being held and stable. We want to feel happy. We want to feel good in our bodies and in our lives.

And we also want to feel like we're contributing, because that's a big part of fulfillment as well, right? So many people planted their seeds with the new moon in Taurus, right? Over 130 people were in my moon session, which was so amazing. So people plant their seeds and they set their GPS for the life of their dreams, the life that their soul is craving.

They set their GPS, in the hopes of like, is this meant for me? Because as I often say, we don't want the things that we think that we want. What I believe each being and each human truly wants is to be on their destiny timeline, because the feeling of living our destiny is a feeling that is bigger than having a certain amount of money in the bank account.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

It's a feeling of such exaltation. It's a feeling that is so exquisite and it changes us on a frequency level. I believe it changes us on a DNA level as well. That is a topic for another podcast. But so people are planting their seeds, wanting to align with their destiny timeline and wanting to be on their purpose.

And then they do their ritual and they might write their list and whatever. But so many people are after they plant that seed, go back to living the way they were living before. So the thing is, if the way that we were living before, as in the beliefs that we have, the thoughts that we think, the things that we say are dominant energies are dominant emotions, the actions that we're taking are boundaries and standards.

If those were going to get us everything we desire, we would have already received those desires. So a lot of people tick the box of their manifestation ritual, but they don't actually become the version of themselves who is capable of receiving, of attracting it, creating it, receiving it, and maintaining it. Because not just about having one big month or having one big goal, it's about actually steadily sustaining and continuing on that upward spiral so that that becomes your true life.

It becomes your lifestyle. We are living it. We are waking up in that life every day. And what many people are also doing. And there's some people who don't make any changes and then they think manifestation doesn't work. We talked about this a lot in the New moon session. There's people who don't make any changes.

"I think manifestation doesn't work", but actually what they're doing is they're manifesting the past again and again and again and again and again and again and again. And then they think, oh, nothing's ever going to change. This is just the way it is for me, when really they're actually co-creating that they're manifesting the past again through making the same decisions and having the same energies of the past and having the same beliefs of the past and making the same choices of the past.

And then there are also people, and we find this a lot in business and in my business coaching spaces like, Cosmic Legacy, the Temple or private coaching, etc, the Star Stream, that set this goal. Like, I want

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

to have a successful business. I want to be full time in my business. I want to be really abundant in my business, in my life. And then the way that they approach moving towards that goal is they compromise their values.

So this is indicative of a deeper, sneakier, limiting belief that you don't get to have your destiny and your soul desires by being who you truly are. It's indicative of a limiting belief that you need to fit yourself into a certain mold, into what society has conditioned us to believe will create success for us, into the expectations of other people, into what we see around us now. Something I talked about in the Star Stream transmission was everyone in that space, everyone in the Star Stream, ever.

I feel like everyone who follows me, if you're like, attracted to my space, is a deeply authentic person. Yet I see and witness these amazing, authentic, gifted, spiritually powerful, creative, beautiful, magnetic people indulging in inauthenticity and wearing a mask as soon as they get online, they get on socials, they're on the business path and they think, okay, I want to follow my dreams,

But then they don't fucking follow their dreams because no one's dream is, following some other coach's content formula, making what you think other people want you to make, making what you think people are going to like putting a smile on when you don't authentically feel that no one's dream is to live life wearing a mask. But many people are not giving themselves permission to be their full self within their business.

Now, that doesn't mean... There's a version of me that is fully authentic that's professional, right? I'm not bringing, my business is not my diary. My business is not my place that I just vent and like, know what I mean?

I have a podcast episode on this, guys. It's called How Vulnerable is Too Vulnerable. So listen to that if you haven't listened to that already. I still engage with my business in a highly professional way, but what professional means to me is not the same thing that I was conditioned to think that professional

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

meant. So for example, when I first started my business. I would cover up my tattoos even though I couldn't possibly cover all of them up because I have them on my hands, I have them on my fingers. I even have a tattoo on my neck. I often think about a face tattoo. I'm probably not going to do it, but I often think about it.

But I still would wear long sleeve shirts and just try and keep it really toned down as much as possible because I felt like I couldn't be successful in the online space. If I was, I felt like I would scare people away by being who I really am, and that in order to appeal to the widest amount of people, the widest demographics of people, I would have to be more quote unquote professional. But all that is, is old paradigm conditioning. That's not an exalted version of being professional.

Professional is, I'm respectful. I take responsibility for my mistakes. I follow through on what my agreements are. If I make a mistake, I correct it. I am on time; sometimes, I'm not on time - when I'm not on time, I acknowledge it. I will make up for that period of time. Like I take responsibility for that.

I make sure I'm rested and I'm coming grounded, my hygiene is good. The different things that for me, that's what professional is. Professional is not: I'm not allowed. For example, there's even a whole whole other topic of conversation around, like, natural ethnic hair, like afros. Curly hair is often not considered professional. That makes no sense. That makes no fucking sense at all.

Me having tattoos doesn't mean I am less able to absolutely slay, whatever it is that I do professionally. But I had a limiting belief at the beginning of my business journey that I wouldn't be accepted, that I would be judged, that I would be overlooked. So it's really important to do what I call belief stalking. We have to stalk these beliefs a little bit, because they're not as obvious as we might think.

So something else that inspired this transmission even inspired it before I put it, even in the Star Stream, is I had the first call of my new container today. It's called Cosmic Legacy. This is astrology for business mastery. It is one year with me diving deep into fully living the entire, deep, profound

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

potential of your soul blueprint, which is the path of self-actualization and interwoven with very proven precision, tangible, practical strategies for business and business coaching.

So I love it because I just, that's me. That's me, baby. Those are the things I love. And this was actually our first call for Cosmic Legacy today. And something that came up in one of the questions was around niching and having to have a niche on Instagram. Then this, amazing, beautiful client was sharing how she felt she had to have a niche and she was trying this niche out, and it was just like crickets and tumbleweeds and it wasn't really landing.

And then I asked her. I was like, all right. So like what? What does work with what you do? Because she was moving from doing work in person to now branching out to the online space. And she was sharing and she's like really embodied in what she does. But she described it in her own words as the thing she was making her niche was just one of her tools.

And I told her I was like, well, if that's just one of your tools, then it's not fully authentic to make it the entire focus of the social media, because it doesn't feel complete, it doesn't feel full. It doesn't feel like an authentic expression of what actually happens in your spaces, what actually happens in your work.

But she felt like she needed to have this niche that was kind of trendy, and that that's what people were going to like. So when we're approaching business in terms of what are they going to like, what's other people going to like, I heard I need a niche. Going searching for a niche that's not authentically arising from within us.

And so what we talked about in the call at that point was, when we create a brand that is actually an authentic expression of what happens in our work and the different pillars, and we talked about these content pillars, the different pillars that are key to the work that you lead. And only one of those pillars for this client was what she was making her niche online and on social media, because she had a limiting belief that she had to be really niche down.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

Now the niche advice, it might work for you, that's great, but a lot of people totally overthink it, completely limit themselves. They're seeking and grasping for a niche instead of dropping in within to see what is authentically arising for me to express. Where does my inspiration lie? What is igniting my soul? Instead of inquiring within and feeling that overflow of creative energy they're grasping outside of themselves and they're looking at.

Oh, and I'm not saying that this client was doing that. I'm speaking in general now. They're grasping and looking outside of themselves. Oh, this works for that person. Maybe I should do that. And there's nothing wrong with trying things out and experimenting. We always learn, okay? Everything we ever do in business, we receive for it. Even if it didn't make us money directly or it wasn't a success by certain standards, the experience is priceless.

So experimentation is something I recommend. If you see someone doing something and in a way that's not plagiarizing their intellectual property and you're like, oh, that's an interesting format. Maybe I want to try that out. Try it out. You're going to learn from that. You're going to gain from that. But if our point of attraction, if our point of how we are making our moves in business is based on things external to us, like a coach told me, I needed a niche and this person is doing this type of content and that's working well. All right, well, maybe I should also do that.

Guys, we go on this path to follow our dreams. Is living like that and creating like that and engaging with our business like that, to tick a box, to make others happy, to replicate what seems to be working for others, to follow the directions of our coach. Does that sound fun to you?

There's not sound like living a dream to you, because if not, you are betraying yourself by continuing to move forward on something that isn't filling you up. So this is where, this is getting to the full point of the transmission of what I shared in the Star Stream. Are you compromising your values on the path to your dreams?

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

The types of dreams, the types of quote unquote dreams that come true from compromised values are actually ego desires. All right. If we're just like, yeah, I want to make $10k. And that's the highest priority? We can, I can make $10k. I can break the law. I can sell some drugs, I can do this out and the other and I can make $10 k.

But the soul desire of having more than enough abundance, feeling a life where I literally feel the sensation of overflow moving through my body, waking up in a beautiful home that's so full of love, beautiful objects, artwork, inspiration and vibes and even has an extra bedroom to host my friends.

I have a friend coming and staying with me tonight. I'm so glad I have my extra bedroom and more than enough to share with my friends. To save for the future so that I'm securing myself later on in life to invest in things that are meaningful to me, to be able to donate, to be able to have a team in my business and pay them really, really, really well and be the type of boss I wish I had, that is a soul level desire.

And both of those desires might lead to $10k months. And actually, that soul level desire might lead to a fuck of a lot more.

And that soul level path of deep fulfillment, of being on our destiny timeline. It doesn't come from compromising your values. Yeah, money can come from that for sure. There's plenty of wealthy people that are not living the highest ideals of what I consider to be powerful. Beautiful values align values that are aligned with love and cosmic order and all that kind of stuff.

You can make money without being aligned to your values, but it doesn't fill the emptiness inside. It doesn't make you whole. It doesn't make you happy. And I know this. I know plenty of wealthy people that don't feel like they're living their destiny, and that's why they usually get a reading from me.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

My readings are the place where I serve the most seven and eight figure entrepreneurs is in my readings, and they come to me because they want to feel more of a sense of purpose.

So if we're talking soul desire, if we're talking new earth wealth, if we're talking sacred success, if we're talking destiny fucking timeline. Do you think it's your destiny to have a mask on while you're engaging on social media? Do you think it's your destiny to exploit your life force, energy and your spiritual gifts?

Do you think it's your destiny to bend over backwards, have no boundaries? Totally burn yourself out. Go over time in every single call and under charge for your gifts. Is that your destiny? Because if not every time you choose those things you are enacting, actively living into the opposite of your values and the opposite of your destiny. And so many people have this very sneaky underlying belief that they cannot have the success that they desire without compromising their values.

And there's a reason why we feel that way. It's because it's been conditioned into us through our colonial capitalist structure society that we live in right now. And that's exactly what is falling apart right now. That's the crumbling old paradigm. Do you want to be up in that paradigm as it continues to crumble, or do you want to be part of this rebellious way, this revolutionary way, this new Earth way where we are refusing to compromise on our values and we are living the lives of our dreams?

If you like that, if that lights you up, stick around with me, okay? Because that's what my work is about. That's what my even my Age of Aquarius talks are about this. Not just my work on business.

It's about the self-actualized human. And the self-actualized human isn't. Oh, I have every single thing I ever want, because not every single desire we have is a true soul level desire. The more we live in our values, the more wholeness that we feel inside of ourselves, and the less compulsiveness codes into

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

our levels of consumption too. So when I talk about our soul desires, it's not just like diamond rings and fast cars necessarily, though. I love my beautiful, bespoke high, fine jewelry pieces.

Like, I don't need more and more of them. I love my classic pieces, and I wear the same ones all the time. And anyway, I'm getting off topic. Let's talk about some more ways that we betray our values. Okay? Something that's a very high value for a lot of us is vitality, vitality and health. So if you in this moment are compromising your health because oh yeah, but like, I just really need to do it right now because I'm just like building my business and I'm just like working towards this goal.

If you are compromising your health and that is a value for you, which honestly it should be and that is a value for you, you are actively opposing your own values, which is also actively opposing your destiny. Timeline. So you might make some money, but it's not going to be sustainable. You're going to want to burn it down later.

You're going to get to the goal and be like, why do I still feel empty? Trust me, I've been there, specific with the health thing. Hey, times when I wasn't eating properly, times when I wasn't hydrating properly, times when I was spending so much time in front of a screen with bad posture. And I was in pain and I was getting sick a lot, and I was getting injured a lot as well.

And if you think, oh, I'll just sacrifice my health now and then when I'm more established, I'll take better care of myself because you are sabotaging yourself from even getting established, because that's not sustainable. When you're building something and it's encoded with actions and choices and beliefs that go against your very values, you are betraying yourself. So what the fuck do you think you're building?

What the fuck do you think you're building with that energy? Those energies are the building blocks of the future you're creating. Let's get real. Oh, no. My tough love is coming out. My tough love

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

coming out. Guys, we were talking about this in Cosmic Legacy. If swearing offends you this is not the right podcast for you. Let's talk about another one.

If creativity and having fun is something that you value and something you want, and something that's part of your soul desires for the way your life is, and you are doing things that you just absolutely like. They're killing your soul like they're not fun.

You're doing client work or you're counting down the minutes. You're saying yes to clients that are an absolute no for you just because you want the money. You are doing things because you think you have to. You're making certain types of content because you think you have to. You're robbing yourself of the opportunity to find the real expression, the real transmission, the real medicine that wants to move through you, to reach the people that are waiting for you to truly step into your power.

And you're keeping them waiting because you're betraying yourself.

The clients that you attract are not going to be aligned to you on a higher self level. The money and wealth that you attract, you're not going to be able to keep it. We find it harder to keep the money. So if you have something around like you can sometimes make money, but you don't necessarily save it or you feel like you're. Yeah, like you're having trouble saving and stacking it, which is something because we're in, the our theme for this month in Star Stream is Worth Wealth and Pleasure. We're talking about that a lot. We're talking about saving. We're talking about stacking. We're talking about richness in every area of life. And this is also leading into my next live program, Rich and Resourced.

We have a lot of like, magical money stuff going on right now. A lot of people really struggle with saving and stacking. Now, when we are compromising our values in order to make money, our energy is leaking all over the place. We're not in a very potent energy because we're betraying ourself. It's almost like our aura is like collapsed a little bit.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

So this our energy is leaking out. So when we're in this leaking energy, it's all leaking everywhere. That's what happens with our money too, because money is energy and energy is currency. So if you have trouble, like you got some money, but you have trouble actually holding on to it and saving it, if you are doing business and making money in alignment with your values, I promise there's there's other things.

There's lots of other things to work on. I'm teaching this in Rich & Resourced. But one of the things is this when you are selling, in a way, selling your dreams, selling your soul in a way to make money, there is this sense of needing to soothe yourself after that. And so that's where a lot of the compulsive shopping happens.

And trust me, guys, I know people making multiple five figure amounts. I'm talking 30 K, 50 K, even 70 k months that don't have much to show for it in terms of savings and assets. Okay. And I was there too, at a certain point. And that's what inspired my program Rich & Resourced. It's all about stacking.

And I felt a sense of safety with money and actually creating security, with money. So that's another story. I won't talk about that too much more so asking ourselves, inquiring with ourselves, where am I living in opposition to my values? How am I doing business in opposition to my values? Okay, if you value authenticity, which all of us do, that means you need to be honest with yourself as well.

You need to be honest with yourself. Do I really love this or is this just what I think will make money? Do I really want to talk about this, or does this just seem like the popular thing to say? Do I really want to hold this program, or do I just feel the pressure to put something out? And I see people doing something like this, and I mean, it seems like a good idea.

I'm just going to do it. It seems like a good idea. That type of energy is like I'm looking outside of me and I see it and I'm reaching for it. It seems like a good idea versus when something comes from within you, when something flows out from your heart because you are inspired. The results of that, the

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

experience of that, who you become through that and the types of clients that get attracted to that energy are the pinch me clients, the soulmate clients, the I want to be your best friend clients.

Yeah, boundaries are important, by the way, but I am so down to hang out with so many of my clients. I'm going to be honest, like close clients, like people that I've gotten to know in the Temple. Like I would hang out with any single one of them because the people who are attracted to the Temple, which came through such a soul level inspiration, are literally my favourite people.

They inspire me. They are just so incredible and you're going to attract if you are not attracting the type of client that you want, this conversation is for you. This whole conversation around your values, if you are speaking and if you're engaging in marketing, quote unquote tactics that don't feel good to you, you have no one to blame but yourself.

You need to learn sales and marketing in a way that is honouring your authenticity. I love strategy, I love marketing, I love branding, I love sales, I love social media, and I have so much fun doing so. I never feel icky. Ever, ever, ever, ever. That doesn't mean I'm not too salesy for some people. I'm a Leo Rising, so I'm a little bit extra over here.

And I love that about me. But I'm not compromising my authenticity, and the people that come into my spaces are literally the most authentic baddies that I've ever seen in my life. I'm like, pinch me like, you are coming in, okay? All right. It's a beautiful feeling and I want you to feel it too. But if you are in a disguise, you're wearing a mask. You're holding a shield. People can't feel you. Even the people that would be resonating with you on an essence level. If they can't not recognize your essence, they're going to walk right by you and go to someone who's actually owning it.

Another thing is, in terms of values, do you value leaders who speak to their ethics, morals and what's going on in the world? There's no right or wrong answer to this, but what I want you to inquire on is

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

what inspires you about others, what inspires you about others? Because a lot of people right now, there's very messed up things and injustices and oppressions happening in the Middle East.

I've had my different waves and my different ways of engaging with speaking on the situation in Palestine on my podcast, I did a free masterclass on social justice and entrepreneurship, where I talked really deep and really uncensored about it.

I've shared on Instagram in a live, in a reel on my stories, like I'm really about personally, processing my emotions and then giving a thoughtful, conscious action to the greater conversation through actually writing and expressing versus just like resharing traumatic images. That's been my, my way.

I started my business in 2020. There's been a lot of different kind of ethical conversations that have come through. And I learned very early on because of when I started my business and when, like, the murder of George Floyd, for example, and Breonna Taylor, like when that was going on, like I knew very early on I was like, I'm not censoring myself on here. I'm not holding back on what is important to me, because that is one of my core values.

And I feel safer in spaces with people who also will stand in terms of like me investing and being in close mentorship with someone if they just conveniently just never, ever, ever speak about the real things that are happening outside of our privilege bubble. I don't feel the same level of safety that doesn't mean you have to feel the same way.

This is an example of something that is a strong value for me. So if you've because I'm saying this because a lot of people tell me, thank you for being one of the only people who has been consistently speaking on this, who's in the online coaching space. And I'm like, of course, it's not even a question for me.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

Is my reach down? Yes. Did I used to get more likes and more reach and more story reviews? Absolutely. A lot more. But did I make 70 K last month? Yes, I did. Am I already on multiple six figures this month and it's early May? Yeah, because I know that I can still create success while fully living in my values even during these challenging situations that have consequences for me in the social media, rules and whatnot, and what gets censored and what doesn't.

So when people have come to me and said, wow, thank you so much, literally saying, I joined the space, I joined the Star Stream, I joined Cosmic Legacy. I joined the Temple because you are standing for this, and I respect that so much, and that inspires me so much. And then I've seen how that's inspired other people to share more.

And if you think if there's a part of you and by the way, not everyone needs to speak on everything, I don't mind that there's coaches that I follow that keep it super neutral. And it's almost like I, I still look at their content. I'm still like, it's almost like a nice little break. It's almost like a nice little oasis.

Right. And I like whatever, I cannot judge. I don't know what's going on inside of people, but if you are attracted to people who do that and you look at that and you admire and respect that, and that inspires you, but you are choosing not to speak because of fear, not because of a soul level. Knowing that you want to keep a totally neutral space and you're down to serve people, even if they have Zionist beliefs and like, even if they support what's happening and whatever.

And you want to just still offer healing to anyone, no matter what, that is valid. You will also know, a part of you will also know, if you are just afraid. You're afraid no one will buy. You're afraid people will unfollow, you're afraid you won't make as much money, etc. etc. etc. so then it's choosing a path of well, I'm going to avoid feeling all these things. I'm going to avoid risking any of that.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

I'm going to just zip my mouth shut, and I'm going to just pretend it's not happening and I'm going to, do what I think is going to make the most money. Let me tell you guys something. A lot of people that walk the path that way don't even make that much money.

What they're not. It's like if you've been doing that and you have the call to speak, you'll, if you don't and if you do, I'm not telling you you need to do it. I'm speaking to the people who feel that call, who feel that starting to use their voice, who think that it's like, what does leadership mean to you?

Because to me, leadership is a lot more than saying the word leadership and then just talking about sales and money. And that's what I personally perceive a lot of people doing. To me, leadership is how are we actually changing the world? Right? So if you want to be that, if you want to be a leader, ask yourself, what is your definition of leadership?

I'll probably do a whole other podcast about this because this is a juicy topic. So what you will find is if you are selling your value because you think that that path has more money for you, that money is one. It's actually not going to be as abundant as the other path, in my opinion. I'm just guessing but it's actually not going to be as abundant as the other path.

But that money, it's not going to feel good. It's not going to fill the hole inside of you, and it's going to be harder to keep, because that's what happens when we are betraying our values, the wholeness that I feel, knowing that I am so proud of myself and the honour with which I live my life, that has helped me deepen my love for myself.

I'm just like, God, I love myself. Oh my God, I'm not perfect. I make mistakes, and I know because of my level of inner honour that I will rectify any mistake that I make. I will learn from it. I will take responsibility for it. I am really great at authentic, heartfelt apologies.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

I care so even though I do make mistakes, I trust myself to navigate through them. I've built that trust in myself through living in integrity with my values. So when people aren't living in integrity with their values, it is indicative to me that they have a limiting belief that they don't get to make the soul level the success that their soul craves well-being, their full self.

It's indicative of a limiting belief to me that they don't feel worthy to still make amazing money while talking about things that yes, some people will unfollow you for it, absolutely. But people will also unfollow you for being fucking boring. People will unfollow you for any reason. You have no idea why they unfollow you and you will still experience unfollows and unsubscribes even if you never touch any controversial topic.

I'm not here to convince you to talk about fucking Israel and Palestine, but if you feel strongly about it and you've been holding back because you're afraid of how that might impact you financially, and you are out here trying to have a social business, I would do some reflection on that. Because I've been talking about it literally since this fucking happened. And I was 200km away from Gaza in October, and now it's May. We're seven months into this bitch.

Could I maybe, hypothetically, have made even more money if I didn't, wasn't speaking on this? Like, maybe, but I wouldn't, I wouldn't feel okay and that would have consequences too. And I don't even know that I even would have made more money. It's like, oh, it's like we can't. The only path is the path. What if the only path that you would truly entertain is the path?

And by the path, I mean the path that's in alignment with your values. Okay. So if you value people speaking their truth and you value people speaking on stuff that is controversial and being brave enough to do so, and it's okay if you don't feel safe to do it, that's totally fine. Because guess what? We value self honesty.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

We value self-compassion. This is not about bullying yourself to be ready for something or not. But if you see that this is indicating that to you, that perhaps your nervous system doesn't feel safe speaking your truth, that's yet another amazing way that our businesses support our self-actualization, because it's mirroring to you that your nervous system doesn't feel safe to speak the truth in public.

Don't you want to shift? That's. And I don't have all the answers for it right now. It's a journey. It's a journey of a nervous system. We're doing nervous system work in Rich & Resourced, by the way. Nervous system work, Rich & Resourced. So excited. But you can figure it out. Go Google it. Freeze response, throat chakra work like the world is at your fingertips.

Another value is do you value evolution? Do you value evolution? Because if you are continuing to make the same choices and business and keep looping in the same, do satisfactory results, or maybe the results are pretty good, and so you just keep maintaining it and keep doing the same thing, even though it's no longer lining you up. Even if maybe once upon a time it did.

You are living in opposition. You're acting, behaving and living in opposition to your values. And that's not going to lead you to your destiny timeline. Your destiny wants you. Your destiny wants the real you, but your destiny wants your authenticity. Your destiny wants your realness.

Your destiny came with you. It doesn't exist without you. So how could your destiny need you to be someone else? How could your destiny ask you to betray yourself and your values? It's not asking that. It's our limiting beliefs and our insecurities and our societal conditioning. Your destiny is not asking for that yet. Often we are the ones choosing it. So let me wrap this up with one more example. The value that we all share. The value that is a big part of why any of us start a business.

If we have a business, or go after any type of dream, it is the value of freedom. Freedom and liberation. If you value freedom, yet you feel imprisoned by your business. That is on you. Because who makes

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

your schedule? Who sets your availability? Who decides your strategy? Who decides what energy you're going to engage in creation with? Who decides what your pricing is?

Yes. We don't have control over everything. We can't force people to be our clients, and we can't magically decide that 100 people are going to join my thing today. We can align to a path where that is likely to happen through us being self-actualized and magnetic as fuck. We can't touch other people's free will, though. But all of the structures in your business and your schedule and the way you are running shit was your choice sweetheart.

So if you don't feel free within it, guess whose responsibility it is to change it? And if you will just accept that and just keep struggling and suffering thinking all want to make 10k months, then it's going to be better. When I make 20 k months, then I'll ease up and like make it better. People. I wish more people would understand by making it better now, in the now moment, which is all that we have and all that is real is a now moment.

By making it better now, you are aligning to the timeline of soul aligned 20 k months. By compromising that value and exploiting your life force energy, having a punishing, self denying and restrictive experience in your business, you are on a different path. It's not just a necessary evil to get you there, and then you're going to choose to be happy.

It's choosing to be happy now, taking responsibility for why is it the way it is and restructuring that it is hard work. I'm not saying it's never hard work and that that's never uncomfortable. I'm not talking about that because we have the choice that the things we do that are uncomfortable are still in alignment with our values. So I don't love doing my taxes, even though I have an amazing accountant who does almost everything.

There's still things I need to do, and I don't love that, but it's actually not aligned with my values to bail on my responsibilities. And that actually creates more stress for me, knowing that that's hanging over

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

my head, knowing that the CRA can come after me or that I owe money. So me taking care of it, even though it's temporarily uncomfortable, it is in alignment with my values because my values is feeling. I value feeling solid.

Oh, that reminds me of one more value that I forgot to say that I said in the Star Stream. But I value feeling solid. I value feeling like I run this shit. I value feeling like an Empress. And this is my kingdom, this is my queendom. And it doesn't feel like it's my queendom when I'm just procrastinating taxes forever because I don't want to feel uncomfortable.

So I'm not talking about nothing ever feeling uncomfortable, but I'm talking about feeling like your business is happening to you. Like you are at the mercy of this. Like punishing schedule and all these 1 to 1 and all of this posting and a lot of it. A big part of it, guys, is, people engaging in social media creation from a place of, I have to do this.

This is a chore. I have to force myself to do this. When the option exists for you to see it as a platform of self-expression and contribution to the collective evolution of consciousness and healing and inspiration and art. That choice is yours. You made the choice to choose the sucky path. If you're on that path, maybe you didn't know the other one existed, and that's okay.

But now you do, because I just told you. I have a program on it. It's called Sacred Social Media. It's included in the Temple, by the way. It's really about the choice. Study your beliefs, notice your perceptions. Notice how you feel engaging with it. And ask yourself why. Zoom out from the tunnel vision thinking, oh yeah, I have to make a post.

You're coding your post with that energy, and then you wonder why you're not getting really empowered. Clients who love investing in themselves, who go after their goals, who are consistent, who are killing it, who are always coming back to you in celebrations. You wonder why you're not attracting that when you're approaching your social media creation. Oh, I have to do this.

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST

with Agesha Durrani

No one is forcing you to do anything. No one's forcing you to start an online business. Hopefully. All right. So if you're going to choose it, recognize you also choose the way you engage with it.

n

Then the other thing, the one that I remember is so many of us value and desire deeply, deeply desire to feel stable, to feel safe, and to feel like we're taking care of and held within our lives and our businesses. Yet we're compulsively spending. We don't have much savings. We're mismanaging our money. It's leaking everywhere. We're avoiding it or being overly anxious about it. We're stressed out. We're so fucking stressed out about it. Yeah, we don't save. That's another thing that I see people really compromising their wealth frequency.

If you value that, create it in your life. Even if you're just saving $50 a week or $50 every two weeks, or even $50 a month, it eventually is going to add up. And that is something we can gift ourselves to feel more stable and held in life.

We're going to talk a lot about saving and stacking and the felt sense of safety with money, which creates that much more magnetism and ability to receive in Rich & Resourced. I have another money program. It's called Wealth Magician that is about quantum money. That's about quantum leaping with money and seeing money as energy and seeing ourselves as magicians within this quantum realm.

Rich & Resourced is like the Earth Money program. It's that it's the rooted, it's the building, it's the stacking, it's the provision. It's being rich on every level and feeling resourced, not just rich in our bank account and physically depleted and emotionally and spiritually and creatively depleted because that money. Trust me, trust me, guys, that money rings fucking hollow.

I used to think like when I was manifesting 10k months and I was like over functioning and overworking. So it was the pandemic. We were lockdown. It was my business was like one of the first things in my life to just work out really amazing. So I've had some hard experiences in my past and I

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

didn't have certain things handed to me, blah blah, blah, and I just put everything into it. And then I went way far beyond that. I had unprocessed trauma and people pleasing,

Once again, I can think of a million examples, if you value reciprocity and balance in relationships, yet you are being a people pleaser and over giving, bitch, you're living out of alignment with your values. I'm sorry, it's not a double standard just because you're the one giving, you're still in opposition to that value.

So let's start getting smart about this. Let's tap into that Age of Aquarius objectivity and objectively look at ourselves in our patterns and take these pauses and these breaths, instead of just believing every thought that we have and perpetuating and feeding into a paradigm where human beings need to exploit their values, sell their souls, sell their values, exploit their life force energy in order to make money.

It's not your fault if you believe that we were conditioned to believe that school and most schools are there to program us to be good little employees and to do what we're told right? We're talking here about a new way. We're talking here about new Earth success. If you want to be a part of that, it requires a little rebellion.

It requires objectively looking at your own patterns and not just believing every thought that you think. And it requires that you remember your sacred responsibility and your free will to have made all the choices in your business. And that's why business can be scary, because it's a sea of infinite choices, and it's basically it's all on us. So we can be tempted when we start our business to fill it up with all these things that we think we should be doing, and we're really perpetuating employee mindset.

We're perpetuating employee frequency instead of becoming sacred CEOs. So I'm going to wrap it up there. I fucking love you guys. If you want to learn astrology for business with me, I highly recommend

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

you check out Cosmic Legacy, which just launched. It is my all access pass for all things astrology and business. My sweet spot, my zone of genius, my absolute passion.

And it has just been, oh, I'm already blown away by this container. And it just started today. But we have a monthly call, so you're not. You'll get the recordings of the past calls, and you get a monthly Q and A monthly coaching call, plus every single program and masterclass that I've done and that I will do during your time in Cosmic Legacy on astrology.

So all the moon sessions, the whole Cosmic Success Codes program, if you're already in Cosmic Success Codes, we have some options of applying at least some, if not all of the credit of what you paid, so just email us to inquire about that.

I also have my biggest, most deep and most high proximity container, the Temple that includes Cosmic Legacy plus more group mentorship and all of my business programs. The ones that don't touch on astrology that are not included in Cosmic Legacy. They are in the Temple. The Temple is the all access pass full all access pass, plus two calls with me every month and the Cosmic Legacy calls. So Temple people have three calls with me a month as a group. And it is a beautiful, beautiful journey that holds you through all seasons.

And then the next upcoming live program as I'm recording this podcast is called Rich & Resourced. It is about deeply rooted and embodied wealth, the kind that stands the test of time, the kind that holds us even through the ups and downs. This is all the lessons that I was initiated in when I chose to take three months off last year and still had multiple five figure month's lessons I was initiated in when I bought my property in 2022 and I had the most amount of debt.

And I don't just mean my mortgage, I mean other forms of debt, than I'd ever had in my life. And my nervous system was going through a lot, and I learned so many really important lessons, to the point

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

that in a short period of time, I now have a $400,000 net worth. Not including like my business savings and things like that.

So I had a lot of issues with the things that I'm talking about in terms of compulsive spending, self-soothing through buying. I used to live in actual poverty and different times in my life, and then when I started making money through my business, I wasn't managing it well because my nervous system was going haywire. And I actually didn't know how to hold it.

So these things and so much more are going to be part of Rich & Resourced. It's about feeling safe, feeling held, feeling in abundance and overflow and feeling pleasure in how we relate with money, knowing that it's always there for us and we actually have the power to take time actually off, not just be digital nomads.

It is really cool that we can travel and work anywhere with our laptop, but I realized I don't want that, I don't want that, I don't want to be a digital nomad. I want the time off. I want to be on vacay. I want to travel for a month through the UK and the sacred sites. I want to travel for, I think it was 6 or 7 weeks in Egypt without a single call on my schedule. Is amazing, and I was able to gift myself that because of these things that I learned and the shifts that I made in my nervous system, to actually feel comfortable and safe to hold and save and stack. So anyway, that's Rich & Resourced.

It begins at the end of May when I'm recording this live. The evergreen version will be available in the future. It's also included in the Temple, so you can sign up for Rich & Resourced by itself. Or you can join the Temple. So that's what's up with me right now. Those are ways you can work with me if none of those are the right moment, if it's not the right moment right now for you, for any of those, keep staying tuned.

In my podcast, check out my IG, check out my IG stories. I can use the support on IG right now because I've been talking about some, the algorithm thinks I'm a naughty, naughty girl, so I super

THE
o a t h
o r a c l e
PODCAST
with Agesha Durrani

appreciate engaging on there and any shares and reviews and stuff on the podcast. It means so much to me. So thank you so much for tuning in and being here.

I'd love to hear your biggest takeaways, so feel free to email or DM me that and I will see you in the next episode. Bye, loves!