Episode 4

(00:02) Welcome loves to another episode of Aquarian Age Business. Guys, thank you so much for all of your support of the podcast, for the Spotify reviews, for the Apple podcast reviews, for giving five stars. Super, super appreciate it. Like my heart is just exploding. I'm so energized and so activated by this new era. So thank you so much for the love and support. It really means the world to me.

So let's get into today's topic, the spicy, sexy, saucy topic of Scorpio season. I love having a podcast because I can say words that the meta platforms do not like, like sex and money. And this is the most transformative season of the year. So what I want to talk about in today's podcast is Scorpio Season specifically for creatives, artists, healers, and entrepreneurs, and how us fully surrendering and giving ourselves to the transformative potential of this season can change everything. It can change our lives. It can change the way we end this year because we are, of course, in the final months of 2025 as I'm recording this. And this puts us on a different timeline and a different trajectory before the next year even begins.

And I don't know about you, but that's really my vibe with like the ending of one year and the beginning of another. January 1st is an arbitrary Gregorian calendar date. It's smack dab, not exactly in the middle, but it's in the part way through the season of the 10th sign of the zodiac. Like it just doesn't really make sense. There's nothing about it that is a new beginning. It's a few weeks after winter begins in the Northern hemisphere. Like it's not, there's nothing about it that is a new beginning.

January 1st, aside from the fact that it, you know, it's a culturally created new beginning. It's a societal new beginning because that's a way that we measure and bookend the experiences of a year, but that's not really the new beginning. And so what Scorpio season allows us to do too, as we prepare for that change, at least a new beginning in the Gregorian calendar year is this season is the season of death and rebirth.

(02:12) And death and rebirth is an absolute key to creating the life of your dreams and manifesting. Manifesting is not just about attaining and acquiring more and more and more and more. That's like over consumption core, right? That's not actually what manifesting is. Manifesting is ultimately not about just gaining a specific thing. I want this, so I'm gonna manifest it and get it.

To me, the point of manifestation is transformation. It's conscious creation of different experiences and that just as important as the attainment of the things we want, is letting go of the things that are not that. And it's actually even more than about getting the things that we want because there's things that sometimes you don't get what you want, but you get what you need. So to me, it's always about aligning to the highest good.

aligned to the highest good of all, and that's not always about what my ego wants. And so sometimes we're even letting go of certain ego desires in Scorpio season. So when it comes to business astrology and Scorpio season, the greatest transformations here are the shadow work that we're able to do specifically around money, power, and sex and intimacy. Okay. And this shadow work can forever change the rest of our lives. The shadow work in this season, if we give ourselves to it, if we surrender to it, if we fully embrace the transformative potential, the alchemical potential of Scorpio season, you will be a different version of you at the end of it, a better version of you, a more expressed version of you, a more rooted in your true essence version of you because...

Scorpio is like the fire sign of water signs, okay? Yes, it is a water sign, but it's like the fire sign of water signs, to be honest. And there's something about this season that burns away at illusion and distortion. And this can be really hard for some people because some people's identities are based in illusion and distortion. And this is why Scorpio's energy can also bring out the worst in people.

Scorpio is incredibly triggering. If we're living more from ego than we are from soul, if our identity is based on illusions and masks that we wear, we're not going to want to look at that shadow because it's going to feel life threatening to us because we've identified who we are with certain illusions, right? So Scorpio season can be very scary or it can bring out the worst in certain people when they're invested in those illusions or their identity is anchored or tethered to those illusions.

So there's a burning of illusion. Now for those who are on a path of self mastery and self awareness, we can work with this energy. Anyone can work with this energy. So I don't want to say that that's a bad thing. There's been times in my life where I did not know who I was. There's been times in my life where I was not willing to look at some of the shadows that were within me because it felt like it would destroy me to see certain things. But that's actually where the greatest power lies. That's actually where the greatest transformation lies.

Money, power, sex, and Scorpio specifically rules certain aspects of money like debt, mortgages, loans, inheritances, other people's money, and windfalls of money. So Scorpio is very like quantum money. It's the kind of money that could change your life overnight, where the opposite of Scorpio is Taurus, and that also rules money, but Taurus rules like the predictable money, the money that stacks. I work this much.

I get this amount of my paycheck, I save 10 % over time, I build my retirement. Taurus is like the slow steady building and we need that too, because we've seen the lottery winners that win the lottery, that's very scorpionic. It could transform their life, but instead it can almost ruin it if they're not ready to handle the sensations of that like increase of power and resource.

and it can be squandered, right? Because the shadows all come out to play. So we need both. One is not better than the other, but right now it's Scorpio season. So this is a time where we can burn away patterns, insecurities, fears, and limiting beliefs that are actually holding you back from your most abundant wealth reality, like the life-changing wealth that truly is...

(06:18) possible for you. We over here in my world, like I love the concept of no billionaires, like make 999 million. And after that, every dollar is donated back to earth. I'm a fan of things, concepts like universal basic income. Like I believe we should not have to earn the right to be alive. I believe in not having the concept of the cost of living. I believe all beings should be provided for and that the good earth is rich and provides for all, which is a quote from

Charlie Chaplin film called The Great Dictator, by the way, a really great film. The good earth is rich and can provide for all. So when we talk about wealth here, I'm really in the committed ongoing journey to new earth wealth. And I'm always learning what that is. I'm not perfect. I'm not the expert on this or anything like that. But

The fact is that a lot of spiritual people, a lot of artistic people have a lot of hangups around money. They have the broke healer paradigm, the broke starving artist paradigm, being married to the struggle, feeling guilty for wanting to receive exchange for something you put hours and hours or years and years of work into. All of that stuff is holding you back. It's holding you back from the impact that you're meant to make. It's holding you back from the income that you're meant to make that would change your life, change your family's life and give you more to overflow into the collective.

If that resonates with you, and I know it does for a lot of people out there, a lot of amazing heart-centered people, Scorpio season is an amazing season to burn through those illusions and get really real and really clear on what your truth is around money. Is your truth that it's dirty, that it's dirty and it's wrong for you to want it?

Money is just a resource. And when you demonize something that you use every single day, you're creating a lot of inner conflict inside of yourself. And that is not helping you or helping anyone else. You help no one. When you hold that deep down thought that money is dirty, it's wrong for me to want it, and it's wrong for me to sell my stuff. Wanting energetic exchange, correct and aligned exchange for the value that you give for all the work that you put into what you do is sacred.

(08:23) Okay, it's sacred. Capitalism did not, that didn't come from capitalism. Wanting sacred exchange for what you create does not come from capitalism. In fact, you working for free, busting your ass and working for free out of guilt, pressure, and internalized shame, that's more on the vibration of capitalism than you charging correctly for your energetic exchange, in my opinion. Because to me, you working for free, creating, pumping stuff out for people, healing people when you're tired, when you're depleted, when you're giving from an empty cup and your own life is like in shambles or like you don't have security in your life. To me, that's exploitation and exploitation is the core and root of capitalism. So just want to say that. Scorpio season is the season to do shadow work around money and Scorpio rules death and rebirth. So the thing is that

The version of you that was a broke artist can die and be rebirthed as the wealthy, richly resourced creative who is living an amazing life. And it doesn't mean you're greedy. It's just about to me, by the way, like wealth to me is having enough to cover my life and my lifestyle and like the lifestyle that I desire, which is not about over consumption core and buying a designer bag every single month or anything like that. But it is about organic food in my fridge.

Going out for some special dinners and meals with my friends throughout the month. Going on a few trips a year. I love traveling. That's really high up on the list for me. Having ethical, sustainably created clothing that is made from amazing materials that are not cheap. Linen, silk, organic cotton, bamboo. Buying things that are made in Canada, which is the country that I live in, less of the things that are being shipped from other countries and just shopping local.

Shopping local, which costs more than buying on Amazon, but I'm instead supporting small business and having enough to save and invest for the future so that I have that security. And one day, if it's in God's plan, which I hope it is for me to have children, for me to be able to take a huge maternity leave and really, really be with my children and not have to worry about running my business with a baby in my lap. Is it wrong for me to want those things? Does that sound like exploitation, extraction, and capitalism to you?

I'm going to have a deep dive episode this season going deeper into the money thing. So feel free to DM me with any specific questions that you have because I'm doing a series on the podcast during Scorpio season that I'm so excited about called the fear series. And I'm going to be diving into some common fears that entrepreneurs have, like the fear of being seen, the fear of haters, the fear of cancellation, the fear of plagiarism. I am bringing it all.

And I'm going to be holding nothing back. So feel free to do DM me any specific questions you have about that. But for now, to give you guys something practical to work with on the transmuting money piece, as I just mentioned, Scorpio rules death and rebirth. Scorpio also rules inheritance. Some of the things we inherited are emotional and spiritual inheritances. Some of them are intergenerational traumas. Somewhere in our ancestry, someone probably some member of a family probably fled from war and left everything behind.

They have experienced colonization where your home was taken from you. May have been that like, how you hear about surgeons in India that then come to America and their medical qualifications aren't as meaningful and they end up driving a cab, like where there's just this huge change in lifestyle. Like there are lineage patterns that we received from our ancestry. And that's a type of inheritance as well.

So Scorpio season, a season of death, rebirth and transformation, a season of alchemizing these things, a season of shadow work. And ultimately, Scorpio also rules specific forms of money and power. This is an incredible time to do some of that journaling and you can journal on what was your lineage's history with money, talk to your parents, talk to your grandparents,

PODCAST
with AYESHA

what were some things that they experienced. Sometimes it might surprise you because some families talk (12:31) a lot about and do a lot of storytelling about what they experience and some don't. I learned a lot of new things just in the last few years about my ancestry. So it's good to open up those conversations. Another prompt you can journal on is when did you first hear about money? What was your first experience ever understanding that money was a concept? For me, it was asking for a Barbie bike, like a bike. was like bright pink and I liked the tassels. I was like, I want this Barbie bike. I think I was four years old and my parents said, oh, it's too expensive.

So that was my first experience with money was understanding that we don't have enough of it already. And then my parents also filed for bankruptcy within that couple of years. So that was really, really impactful for me. You can do a specific reflection on what was the experiences of money around you during the ages of zero to seven, because our subconscious mind is primarily programmed and conditioned from the ages of zero to seven. So a lot of our imprints and stories go all the way back to the ages of zero to seven.

During that period of time, my parents filed for bankruptcy when I was six. So that had a really big impact on me in even times when I made a lot of money, which my business has made over 2.5 million US dollars in revenue. There's been times that I've had huge revenue months and still not felt fully safe in it because I knew from my parents bankruptcy that we could have a lot and then it could all go away at any moment. And so I always was overcompensating and over-functioning to be like, yeah, but I'm still not safe. I'm still not safe. And I, through doing this work with my lineage, just by journaling already is working and moving the energy that really helped me to see that it wasn't the truth of the situation.

It was my wounds from that acting up and the belief system that that came from that space. So sometimes just shining the light of awareness on it is enough to already shift the pattern. And Scorpio season means the sun is in Scorpio. The sun is the light of consciousness and Scorpio is the underworld. So the sun is shining its light in the underworld. So you can actually access the deeper layers of these patterns right now. And that can change your life forever, can change your relationship with wealth forever.

And I first did this work (14:39) two years before I started my business in 2018 and 2019 is when I started doing like money mindset journaling and stuff. So after you do some of that journaling, some other questions could be, what was, how did your parents react and respond to money? So sometimes you might not have had direct conversations with them about it, but you knew when they were fighting about it. You could see when a bill came in and things got really tense and their facial expressions changed.

Maybe you didn't see them fight, but maybe you heard them fight in the next room. As children, we soak all of this up and we're really, really sensitive to this. So acknowledging that can really be very impactful. One thing for me is I had some...

hard lessons when I started making more money, where with certain people that I dated, I got money involved to try and solve their money problems, because I would see them be upset or triggered about something financially. And I would just swoop in with the bandaid and fix it for them. Oh, I can just fix this. But it didn't feel right. And it actually damaged the relationship. It harmed the relationships overall. And yeah, it just created messy situations. And then I was working with a coach later on, and she asked me such an insightful question. She said,

When you remember in childhood, if people were worried about money, what would happen? And so that created a lot of instability in my childhood, having to move to a different place. My parents having really, really, really gnarly fights. And I would see it would start from them being upset about money. So then now if I saw someone be upset about money that I'm close to in my life, I was so afraid deep down. I wasn't consciously afraid, but something was reacting inside of myself. That's like, you need to nip the situation right now so it doesn't go any further.

put the bandaid on it, but that actually caused a lot of problems. And I had to do that shadow work to understand that. So something that's really great to do after journaling on this kind of stuff is going for a walk, going for a walk really is the best thing. You can also do things like intuitive movement, some yoga, dance or something like that. But honestly, going for a walk is the best thing because it clears your mind. You're shifting your environment. You're getting fresh air and you're grounding on Mother Earth. And that's an amazing way to integrate it so that it's not just (16:51) of the mind and it's not just in words and concepts but you're allowing your soma and your nervous system to like have its beautiful subtle shifts. So I think going for a walk after journaling on these things really takes it to a next level of depth and a next level of transformation. Power is something else that Scorpio rules and a lot of sensitive people, artistic people, heart-led people, spiritual people have a very interesting and complex relationship with power and our society

with

actually encourages heart-led people to abandon and disown their power, and then that leaves more for the people that just ruthlessly consolidate power and resources to continue the fascist uprising in our world, right? So it's really important that spiritual people start getting right with the power that they hold and the responsibility that comes with that power. So you can also ask yourself, why am I afraid of power? Why does a part of me not want power?

And you might think consciously, no, no, do want power. Maybe you know that you don't, but why does a part of me reject power? These are good questions to ask yourself and just see what comes up. Just see what I'm not saying. You for sure, whoever's listening, a part of you is rejecting power. Maybe not, I don't know you, but it can be good to ask ourselves these questions. This is a way that we kind of stalk our shadows because our shadows are not right in front of our faces. They're hiding in the shadow behind us, right? But the sun in Scorpio is helping us illuminate these shadows.

Another one is sex and intimacy. And Scorpio, I wrote a post on Instagram that I was really proud of, by the way. So thank you guys for all the love on that post about Scorpio season. And something that I said is that I'm not, I don't have it in front of me, but I said something more or less like Scorpio rules, life-changing wealth, transcendental sex, soulmate love. We can access lower distorted versions of these. Like we can have sex. It might not be transcendental, safe, heart-led, deep intimacy, profound sex, but we can have sex.

We could have a relationship, but it might not be soulmate love. It could just be two people in codependency. We could have money, but it might not have come in a pure way that really feels aligned. So we can access those things from lower ways, from distorted ways. And that is the temptation of Scorpio energy, right? It's like to get what we want, but not to do it in the highest path. And so because a lot of people are aware that those things in particular, sex and money.

(19:09) Can take you down a dark path if you are not deeply committed to your integrity, some people just throw it all away altogether. And a lot of us have had this awakening already with sex. Like we might've grown up with a program where sex is wrong and dirty, then we usually have an awakening, wow, sex is actually can be really sacred. Maybe we became a little too open to it and then we like brought it back into balance of like sex is sacred and I have a lot of boundaries around it or I wanna do it in commitment or whatever.

That was my journey. So, your journey is obviously different. But still understanding that sex itself was not ever dirty, but actually it could open you up to energies that you don't want in your life that like extract from you and stuff like that. And it is something to be protected, but it's not something to be suppressed, right? So if you had that awakening with sex, you can apply that to your journey with money because there's a lot of similarities and that's why they're ruled under the same sign and house, the eighth house in astrology.

We learn a lot from astrology. Like it gives us very interesting perspectives to have these breakthroughs. This is an incredible time for healing sexual trauma as well as just clearing sexual energies. Okay. So something I'm going to be practicing during Scorpio season, which by the way, Scorpio season is activating a certain house in your birth chart. And this is something I teach in my membership.

Inside of my membership, we are in money, sex and power season. So that means almost every day of the week, there are prompts, strategies, and audio trainings and transmissions that are given in alignment with this intention for us as a collective, always in alignment with the current astrology. So it's aligned with the astrology of the moment, which means you get better results from doing those practices. And it's very practical, actionable steps for you to do this. And it teaches you how to work with your birth chart to understand the precise activation for you.

So if you're curious about that, I am really excited to offer a special invitation for listeners of my podcast. If you are not already in the Star Stream membership to try it for one month for half off. And so you get to access an amazing vault of masterclasses. You get the audios throughout the week to support your highest becoming audios about wealth, about abundance, sales strategies, social media growth. So it's business strategy, it's transformation, it's leadership, it's healing.

And it's always very practical and actionable and it's always aligned with the astrology. And then we also have a monthly soul business call where you can ask me all your questions about business. And we go really, really deep into strategy and energetics in those calls. Like they are so fricking valuable. So you can try, get the full experience of the Star Stream for one month for half off your first month. And if you don't resonate with it, you can just cancel before the next billing cycle. There's no commitment though there is a really nice deal. If you want to stay for a year, there's a special, special invite for that. If you do love it.

I believe in this space so strongly, like just look at the testimonials. The testimonials are insane for the Star Stream. So that's where if you're inspired with Scorpio season, if you're ready to do the shadow work, if you're ready to transform and double down in your business too, in a space that's really excessively priced, super diverse community, very active. Really the Star Stream is like my favorite place on the internet. So I'm so excited to offer my podcast listeners half off their first month. just as a thank you for, for listening and supporting the podcast

And because I know how transformative that this next season is. And I wanna do it together. And I wanted all of us creating this collective field, taking these actions, celebrating our wins and transforming these pieces that are truly holding us back from our destined impact and our destiny timeline ultimately. That's really what it's about ultimately. So when it comes to the power piece and the sex piece, the intimacy piece, the money piece, it's so easy for us to...

suppress that and we see that all throughout society. We see that in religious orders where the suppression of sexuality leads to some of the most evil and distorted, wounded expressions of that energy. We need that energy to flow and how it can flow for the highest is when we choose to engage with it with integrity and we have that standard for ourselves. When we choose to go on the path of mastery and Scorpio is a is an energy that requires mastery and it helps us into mastery because

There can be such a dark side to it. The shadows are manipulation, manipulating others to get your way. We see a lot of this in unethical sales practices. We see a lot of this in, yeah, just the power dynamics that are unhealthy in our world that need healing. But the solution is not to throw it all away and turn your back on it. The solution is to be willing to engage with these things while engaging with your own shadow at the same time, transmuting your own shadow. Then you begin to trust yourself and know yourself and know that you can handle large amounts of money.

You can create and receive large amounts of money without ever exploiting anyone else. You can actually create jobs. You can create monthly donations where there's a ripple of your financial impact that is literally rippling out into other people on this planet. There's so much beauty that comes from this. When we each realize that we hold very, very deep power and we learn to express this in healthy ways, this is how we change our world. This is how we take our world back. And the intimacy and sex piece, yeah, I kind of mentioned something before that during Scorpio season, because it activates my fourth house, and this is what we talk about in the membership, you will learn how to work with your chart in the membership without even like really studying because of just a very unique like framework of how I deliver the information.

It's in my fourth house on my birth chart and that is the house of home, family, roots, lineage, and the womb and the breasts. So I'm going to be practicing breast massage again. That's a practice that I love, but I haven't been consistent with it lately. And I'm also going to, for the first time, commit to consistent yoni steaming, maybe once a week, before my, like outside of the week of my bleed, something like that. Like I'm going to be doing multiple yoni steams during this period of time. And even if it's not in your fourth house, like it is for me,

Scorpio rules the sexual reproductive organs. Every sign rules certain body parts. So the sexual reproductive organs are ruled by Scorpio. So this is something that you can work with because that Eros energy, the creative life force energy held in your sex is one of the most transformational and alchemical energies. And of course, these are the body parts that we tend to have the most societally installed and implanted shame.

(26:00) Shame about how it looks, shame about this, shame about that, da da. So it's very, like, it's very all pervasive, if that's the word. It's really a very big part of our society is shaming our sexuality, shaming our sex. So coming back to those spaces is actually really healing and will support all the shadow work that you're doing. Clearing past sexual partners is something we should do anyway, but it's very powerful to do it in Scorpio season even clearing energies with your current partner.

It doesn't mean you're pushing them away. It's just energy become stagnant, right? So it makes more space for fresh energy for the new people that both of you are becoming if you are in a current partnership with someone. When it comes to sexual trauma healing, this is something that of course, please get support for that and if you don't or if you don't have resources to get that support find ways to support yourself so that you can go into it very gently.

You don't want to put yourself into overwhelm or shock in your nervous system. You want to just be really gentle with it. Maybe some journaling, maybe some free resources, finding some free resources that exist, organizations that may be able to support you, YouTube channels and podcasts that could support you, books that could support you. I'm not an expert on this space at all, but I just know how much potential there is for this type of healing at this time.

So if you are able to, even saving for like a womb reiki, womb energetic cleansing of some kind, that would really be worth, I think, investing into, but also learning to do that yourself, clearing your own sexual or reproductive organs. We're going to talk about that in the membership more. I'm going to have a full audio about that in the membership if you're curious about some of my methods. But there's a lot of free resources online too. And this is really the time that those things in the shadow.

They might seem small to us, the power that they hold in our blind spot where we can't see, they secretly hold power that impacts the way we take up space. It even impacts the way we be in our bodies. And that is like ground zero of our sovereignty is how we be in our bodies. And if we've experienced violation or even inherited intergenerational sexual trauma, which is definitely something I'm familiar with.

That really impacts our feeling of safety in this world. And reclaiming that safety in our body is really important for reclaiming new earth and claiming our space in our businesses online and with the legacy of our work as well. And recognizing we have power, our power is sacred, our power is a form of protection, our power is a form of self-expression, our power is a manifestation of our essence. And it's not about power over power under dynamics like the unhealthy dynamics that we see.

So abandoning our power does not help balance out the unhealthy power dynamics. Owning our power actually helps us to bring balance to the power dynamics of this world. In the form of money, in the form of sex, in the form of just your power as a human being, your power as a healer, your power as an artist, your power as a woman, your power as a man, your power as a person. There's so much here for us if we're just willing to embrace and go into the shadow. And even if you haven't experienced big T traumas, this is a great time for therapy. This is a great time for...

working with trauma informed coaches. This is a great time for doing deep diving. This is a great time for journaling daily. That's a great way to support yourself for free, for absolutely nothing. You can support yourself through daily journaling and just getting in touch with how you're feeling, getting in touch with, getting in touch with what's going on in your being. That's a form of intimacy. And ultimately it's about intimacy too. Another way of looking at Scorpio season is energy exchange. Sex is an exchange of money.

Obviously, and business is an exchange of money. Sorry, I said sex is an exchange of money - I meant sex is an exchange of energy. Sex work is work. So for some people, it can be an exchange of money. But I meant sex is an exchange of energy. Sales and money and business is an exchange of energy. And even death, which Scorpio also rules, is an exchange of energy, exchanging energy from our physical form into (30:10) when we return back to source, whatever that looks like, there's some sort of transmutation of energy that happens in that moment. This can also be a great season for grieving and mourning your lost ones, those who have left this plane and connecting with your ancestors as well. So having an ancestor altar is something that I really love. And if you don't, this is like a great season to do that. As we get closer to Salwyn and the Day of the Dead as well, yeah, I definitely have the ancestors on my mind and giving them offerings. I have a little special tray.

I was in Ireland last year and there was this beautiful tray with like the Celtic Tree of Life that had like the roots going underneath and I was like, this is for my ancestor altar. My ancestry is not Irish, but I just love the imagery of the tree and it just felt very sacred. So I do have this tray where I give offerings to my ancestors. So you can invite in that support as you move through the shadows and know that, you know, it's painful and it's scary to face our shadows because a part of us is like, can I handle this? Can I handle the pain or the sensations, of looking at these truths, but that's literally where your power is. So what if you were willing to? What if you were willing to feel that fear temporarily? What if you were willing to whatever feelings will come up from looking at your own patterns? So this is a very transformational time. I'm so, so ready. I'm so surrendered to what the season will ask of me. You don't need to go grasp and seek out 10 million things to do and like be on the personal development hamster wheel.

Life will bring up on your path what you need to see and what you need to address. You don't have to go seek it out. It will rise up on your path as you just keep walking your path. But then when those things come up, do you address them or do you avoid, suppress and judge them? Because that's exactly how things end up in our shadows is we basically reject those parts of ourselves or those emotions. That's how it ended up in the shadow to begin with.

So notice what comes up. It could come up in triggers with interactions with other people. It could come up with feeling, holding yourself back from posting for your business, holding yourself back from showing up for your launch, holding yourself back from starting your podcast, whatever. Then, and that's where you start investigating. And Scorpio is an amazing investigator. That's another reason why it's able to go so, so, so very deep to the actual root cause of these patterns in our lives that are really holding us back from our true destiny timeline.

(32:29) And in this time, we're moving into the Aquarian Age, where it's the power of the people. The individual has to accept their power in order to have power to offer to the people. So the uprising of the people and the power of the people, the people, the tapestry of the people is comprised of individuals. So individually, we need to reclaim this too. And we all have our own very personal stories, very personal family experiences, very personal birth stories and everything, lineage, ancestry, everything, where we get to offer it up to the transpersonal collective movement, the collective uprising, the evolution of collective consciousness and creating the Aquarian Age, it starts with a very personal space deep inside of ourselves. And that's where we get to really claim another timeline, a timeline of riches, a timeline of impact, a timeline of hard-led leadership, and really creating that legacy that you are proud of when you look back on it. Not you tiptoeing and walking on eggshells so no one's ever triggered by you because

You can do that and you can live half a life. You can be a shell of who you're meant to be and people will still be triggered by you, sweetie. People will still not like you, for sure. And we'll talk about that in the fear series that I'm gonna start recording. We're gonna talk about fear of haters. I got a lot of experience with that one. So really excited to bring it to you guys with the podcast. So thank you guys so, so, so very much for listening.
