Episode 34

Welcome back to Aquarian Age Business. Let's dive into today's topic: such a profound, deep, life-changing, business-changing, relationship-changing, wealth-changing transit, Chiron in Taurus. This is actually the first time in my whole journey of having my business for over six years that Chiron has entered a new sign.

And those who know my work know that Chiron is absolutely core and key to my own transformation, to my work with clients. And it's really the place that we can look to healing the wounds that are stopping us from our full potential. And Chiron in Taurus is such a deep and profound one that impacts all areas of life because Taurus is the sign of wealth, worth, and the body. And Chiron is the wounded healer archetype.

Where we have Chiron transiting we will have these wounds activated, which means that we can look forward to not just triggers, but the transmutation of those wounds, of those triggers, and of those blocks into a transformed experience with those themes, in this case, wealth, worth, and our physical body, feeling safe to be a body in this world, a felt sense with money and abundance, becoming the version of us who really claims and creates and receives our dream life, not from proving, not from trying to fill a void, not from trying to fill the emptiness inside of us with achievements and metrics, but from an actual deeply rooted sense of Empress level self worth, the wealth, material wealth, and financial security that reflects that, and a relationship with our bodies and by extension with nature that is actually rooted in love, respect, and reverence.

And funny enough, when we relate with our bodies in that way, we actually open to more health and more radiance, not the kind that comes from restriction and being overly harsh and rigid or denying ourselves things, but actually the health that comes from tending to ourselves from love as the body really is the temple and the vessel that our soul manifested for this incarnation.

So it's really quite a powerful homecoming to have Chiron in Taurus, but the journey of that homecoming is not just like, yay, magically we feel better. This is around an eight-year journey in this sign. Actually, it's more of a six-year journey. This is a six-year journey of the wounded healer archetype thoroughly moving into all the places where we have wounds around being a body, around feeling safe in this world, everything to do with money. So that means making money, charging appropriately for your work.

Right, full pricing that actually feels aligned and honours you without overcompensating or inflating or anything like that. Receiving money, spending and investing money, saving and stacking money, and really living the luxe lifestyle that feels so expansive and nourishing to us, but isn't luxury for the sake of luxury. Like it's not a you know polyester lined bag that was made in China that's ten thousand dollars for some reason. To me, that's not luxury.

And another really important piece of Chiron in Taurus transit is coming into right relationship with Mother Earth. The word matter and Taurus is connected with everything in the material world, material possessions, material abundance, material security. The word matter comes from mater, and mater means mother. Our planet Earth, which is the abundance, the physical, obviously, there's an energetic and emotional and spiritual frequencies and expressions of Earth, but our mother earth, a planet that we physically live on, where our food physically grows, where our body physically moves, where our homes are physically built, is our mother.

And we are in a society that is based and rooted in extraction of the feminine, whether it's extraction of materials for more and more and more hoarding of wealth from the, you know, small amount of people that have most of the wealth on this planet. That have gained that wealth through extraction of resources as well as extraction of labour from the rest of the population of the planet, which is the old paradigm, really di fucked up distorted way. and that relationship of extraction from the earth has of course impacted us on individual levels as well in our relationship with our bodies.

So as above, so below, as within, so without, from macrocosm to microcosm. When we live in a society that rapes and pillages the earth and takes and takes and takes of the physical resource of human labour, right? Human physical labour from slavery to sweatshops and everything in between, which is not a thing of the past, by the way. So that's a, that's almost a whole different conversation, but you know, the amount of people that are imprisoned in the United States is more than like 20 other countries put together. I don't have these stats on hand because I wasn't planning to share about this, but the United States, the percentage of the population that is currently incarcerated, is just absolutely on another level than everywhere else in the world. And it's possible for these people to quote unquote work, do manual labour, and make literally pennies, pennies per hour. So because of that, it's basically slavery, but it's technically not because they're making pennies per hour. Like it's really, really, really messed up. That's just one example.

So these are not things of the past. And there's a lot of dehumanization that is at the core of this, right? So we are within a society that is based in this, and that has impacted our own relationships with ourselves, our own relationship with money, our own relationship with the body. We extract from our own body. We override our own body. We push ourselves into burnout for what? For money. A lot of the time, for the illusion of security and safety,

We will sell our own labour and compromise our own life force energy to the point of getting sick. And it's this thing of thinking that we need to choose between wealth, between our self-worth, and between our body. Like we can't have all three at the same time. And what this is really inviting us into with Chiron in Taurus is a next level of wholeness where we are making money, amazing money, life-changing money.

In a way that is honouring our self-worth, in a way that is honouring our values, and in a way that is honouring our body and life force energy and the greater earth body, other people's bodies as well. This means making money without exploitation, including exploitation of ourselves, without exploitation of resources, without exploitation of other people's labour, without exploitation of ourselves, without exploitation of others. It's right relationship. And the crazy thing is that.

When we think of wealth, a lot of times what will come up is like these private jets that are destroying the world. At what cost are these private jets, right? Like the environmental impact. So it's having all of them at the same time. It's the wealth that actually honours the world around us and honours one another, the wealth that makes the world richer, the wealth that makes the world a better place, not just through, yeah, I donate money, but actually through living those values, having those values within our businesses.

And having those values within our relationship with ourselves. Because I know people that would never ever ever exploit or overwork or demand so much of other people, like their assistants or their clients or anything like that. And yet they will crack the whip on their own self to the point that they have chronic health issues. And I've also experienced that myself. I've gone on a huge journey with chronic health issues, overworking and overriding my body because I grew up in a home environment - My Chiron is in Cancer, which has to do with the family and the upbringing.

I grew up in a home environment where no one was attuned to me and I and my needs seemed to not matter or be important to anyone, never mind my feelings and desires, but even just my basic needs. And that taught me to not be attuned to myself. And that's also a piece of my lineage where my parents were not attuned to their own selves because of abuse that they experienced. So my upbringing was more neglect, not abuse, though neglect can be seen as a form of abuse.

But my parents experienced very overt physical abuse. And because of that, so Cancer, my own natal Chiron, because we all have Chiron in our birth chart as well. My own natal Chiron is in Cancer. That's the family and the lineage. So for me, I didn't feel safe in my body. I didn't know how to be attuned to myself, I didn't know how to nurture myself. I had to go on that healing journey. And before that, I was constantly getting sick and constantly getting injured as well, like actual, pretty bad injuries from very basic things.

Which was always really frustrating to me because I'm a very active person. I've been working out consistently since I was a teenager and I love dance. I used to perform very often. I'm a certified yoga teacher. And yet I would get injured from doing a plank. Like it was really crazy. It's like my body was at war with itself. So this Chiron in Taurus transit - And yes, by the way, side note, in case you didn't know, we all have our own Chiron placement.

And it can be in one of the 12 signs. My Chiron is in Cancer, but every single Chiron transit, whether it's your own natal Chiron or not, is incredibly important because this area of your life, because you have it in a certain house in your chart, this area of your life is going through a profound healing journey that is not going to happen again for quite some time.

Because it takes Chiron over 40 years to go all the way around, 48 to 52 years to come back to that exact degree and placement. It does spend a slightly different amount of time in each sign, but the overall cycle all the way through the zodiac is long. And many of us have not experienced this in Taurus in our lifetimes yet. The last time that Chiron was in Taurus was 1983 or sorry, 1976 to 1984.

and this cycle is this new cycle now is taking us to such a deep level because Uranus was just in Taurus as well. So this is something unique to this particular Chiron cycle. And Chiron in Taurus is really the invitation to actually heal those wounds, not put a band-aid on them, not have a quick cash injection. Listen, in this entrepreneurship world, online entrepreneurship world that I've been in for six years.

I've gone from zero to almost three million dollars US cash received doing what I love with the most amazing people. And at some of the highest months that I had, not the highest months, because at that point I had healed a lot of this stuff, but some of my initial really high cash months, like my first 60k month, my first 70k month, I actually still felt scarcity and fear in my body.

And a lot of us think, especially if like me, you grew up with actual poverty, like I went to the food bank with my mom, we had a power cut off, lights cut off. Stuff that was very normal in my childhood. My parents went bankrupt when I was five or six years old, and that was a really big change, moving from a house that we owned that was quite cute and nice, it's like a brick house in Toronto, to like rat-infested, moldy basement apartments, and then moving again and moving again and moving, like constant uprooting. That was really, really challenging for me. And I had a deep feeling of lack of safety with money. Then I dropped out of school when I was 15 years old and I left home at that time and I was working, I got a job and I was working to support myself since age 15.

I always felt very unsupported. I always felt really stressed about money. I would always take extra shifts. I would always take overtime, like whatever it would take to create that security because it felt like it was all on my back. But then I would blow an entire paycheck, which wasn't very much. Like my paychecks, I remember my paychecks at one cafe being like around 700 Canadian dollars every two weeks. I was not even making 1500 Canadian dollars.

That's like, I don't know, 1100 US. I wasn't even making that in a month. And so I remember buying a $500 coat, wool, wool coat one time because I needed to self-soothe myself. That was the way that I self-soothed. So I would be stressed about money, stressed about money in scarcity, only buy things on sale, only buy groceries that were on sale, like try to make food last stretch as long as possible.

And then I would blow it all. It's like the buildup of energy needed to be released because I didn't have better pathways of doing that and I wasn't as aware of what was going on, and I would just blow all of it in one day. So I really had a lot of trouble saving and stacking money. Of course, when you're making low income, it's hard to save and stack beyond your necessities. But I'm talking about my own management with that money and not actually feeling safe in my body to hold on to it and needing to buy something, needing to go on a little shopping spree, and it was a coping mechanism for me.

So all of these different expressions of money are coming up for healing with Chiron in Taurus. Some people have a completely different, completely different experience of this. Some people grew up with a lot of money or they grew up with enough, always having enough, and their parents may have only expressed love through money.

Some people may have grown up wealthy and been given the messaging that people want to take from you. So you need to hide your wealth, or people will judge you, or people will blah, blah, blah, et cetera, et cetera. Like there's a lot of stories that we have taken on. Sometimes people come from a wealthy family, but earlier in the lineage, that family fled Europe in World War II, for example, or had a major immigration that happened further down the line and they left everything behind and maybe had to lose everything that a grandparent or great grandparent worked their entire lives for, and there's a deep fear-based scarcity living within the body.

And that fear-based scarcity around money and around our own bodies and around our self-worth is also something that is sewn into the fabric of our society by the anti life system. Because as long as the anti life system, which I mean I think everyone that's listening knows what I'm talking about with that, but I mean look at the psychopathic actions of military-based governments, look at the actions of colonization, look at slavery, look at all of these abominations, dehumanization, look what's happening in Palestine, look what's happening in Lebanon, all of these things that just literally make no sense. And you're like, How are psychopaths running the earth? It is the anti-life system. It's a system that is rooted in evil and destruction.

And this system can control us better when we are fragmented at the level of the root chakra. So the root chakra is the chakra of being here in a body. It's the chakra of being a physical body, living here on earth with resources that we need, with the abundance that we need. Yet we live in a world where we need to earn the right just to be alive, where people are working full-time jobs and still need government support because the cost of living crisis. Like it's all so much fear when literally there is just objectively enough resources on this planet for everyone.

Like there is and there always has been. And at the same time as there is this manufactured resource scarcity, the same anti-life systems are psychopathically very, very fast destroying and consuming finite natural resources. Like with all these data centers and stuff like that, like it's literally psychopathic. So if you ever look at that and you're like, why is this, why is this happening? It literally makes no sense. It's the anti-life system. It is in a psychosis of destruction. And we, as earth angels and earth angels in becoming, us doing this healing is incredibly important because it's part of our sacred rebellion. Heaven on earth is a place where there is no homelessness. Heaven on earth is a place where there is no slavery, where there is no dehumanization, where it's not okay to bomb this group of people, or it is okay - how do I say this? Everyone can agree that it's bad to bomb this group of people, but it's a discussion when all these people are brown that are getting bombed every single day, or that these children can be protected, but these children, that's just too bad.

These types of incongruences with our ethics and our morals, that's a distortion from the anti-life system. And so part of the way that they control people and put people also in enough desperation to even support these crazy military things is the fracturing and fragmentation of the root chakra. And that is through a culture of abuse where sexual abuse, in many cases has no consequences, is actually like our world is...

A lot of people in power in our world are literally pedophiles and there's, nothing is being done about it. Like even just witnessing that is disturbing on a root chakra level, but billions of people probably have been actually personally impacted by sexual or physical abuse in some way. And that's really damaging for the root chakra. Then there is the war with our bodies, particularly women receive this, but everyone does receive this of

You need plastic surgery, you're always too fat, you can't have any cellulite, you can't have any hair on your body, like all these things where there's something wrong with your body, as well as our worth, our self-worth being associated with how much money we have, and our self-worth being associated with how much work that we do.

So these are all things Chiron in Taurus is inviting us to heal, and they are all things that are not just normal wounds that we have come into life with because of our personal experiences, but they're wounds we have received. Because of the society that we live in, capitalizing, actually causing a lot of those wounds and then capitalizing and hooking on to those places where we have fragmentation in order to control us and in order for us to be in fear.

Yep, that's pretty much it. Like this is Chiron in Taurus. This is why this transit is so incredibly important. Now, a bunch of people listening also have Chiron in Taurus in their birth chart. Like I said, the recent transit through Chiron in Taurus was from May 29th, 1976 to April 11th, 1984. There was a period of time in there where it retrograded back into the previous sign. These different periods of time, you have to look in your birth chart to make sure because you could have been born on the day that it switched signs or during the time that it was retrograded. So it's not just 1976 to 1984, you have to actually look at your birth chart and find where Chiron is. I do have a free astrology guide that will show you the symbols and show you how to generate your birth chart if you want to do it through that.

And if you are ready to actually do this healing, to actually create a felt sense of safety, having money, becoming a wealthy person, becoming someone who is a reverent steward of resources, becoming someone who is deeply rooted in your self-worth. So you can leave behind the days of proving or auditioning for other people to validate or accept you. Where you can leave behind being at war with your body and actually be seated in the miracle that is this physical body, even with its pains and aches, and even with its ways that it's, you know, even just that, even our chronic issues, which I have a huge journey with chronic issues in my own life, physical issues and pain, those are messengers from the body. They are trying to communicate with us. And when we try and tell those things to shut the fuck up. That is actually just perpetuating being at war with the body.

So if you're ready to end the war with your body, if you're ready to heal on the level of worth, wealth, and being a physical incarnation in this world that could be heaven on earth, in this world that is full of pleasure and treasure, if you're ready to reclaim presence and pleasure in your body, which is also something that Taurus rules, if you're ready to be part of this movement of coming back into right relationship with the earth, which includes our bodies and which includes right relationship with resources, which includes our relationship with money, our bank accounts, our businesses.

Then I very much from my heart and soul hope that you join for the Chiron in Taurus masterclass, which is on Wednesday, June 17th. I am so excited for this. Chiron has been, I think actually my very first paid masterclass was my masterclass on Chiron through the different signs of the zodiac. And there is an opportunity you can upgrade and add that if you join. That's like all the 12 signs for Chiron on your birth chart, not specifically a transit.

This has been such a key part of my own journey in self-actualization because again and again and again and again, we often know what to do and we don't know why we're not doing it. We don't know why we feel so much resistance and we want to avoid it and we don't know why things are so hard for us in certain ways. Chiron has been the key again and again and again.

Even the symbol of Chiron is a key. Now, if you have Chiron in Taurus in your birth chart, you need to be there twice as much because it's literally your Chiron return, which is something that happens every 48 to 52 years. A very, very powerful time where the key enters into the lock and turns, and you open into a new expression and evolution of your purpose and your medicine. Because Chiron, as the wounded healer, transmutes those wounds into medicine.

We're going to talk about the Chiron return. We are going to talk about Chiron retrograde. We're going to talk about Chiron retrograding back into Aries, which it briefly will from the September 2026 till April 2027. That's going to be the final exams on Chiron in Aries, which has been around the healing of the wounded masculine in the collective, which we see that everywhere all around us. And it's so beautiful that Chiron goes from a Mars ruled sign - from Aries - into a Venus ruled sign with Taurus. So this is also healing the feminine and healing our abilities to be in pleasure and presence in our bodies.

And yes, there can be pain in the body. Yes, there can be fear in the body. Yes, there's resistance to being these reverent stewards of wealth and being these fountains of wealth in our community. Yes, we might consciously want that, but subconsciously, deep down, there are wounds that continue to sabotage us and keep us looping in the same place. If you are ready to truly transmute this and not just end this for your experience, but open new realities and deepen your own medicine for your own clients and community.

Then I invite you to sign up to Chiron in Taurus. The link is in the show notes here. And another option of joining the masterclass, you can join the masterclass on its own. Another option is the Abundance Awakening bundle because within the months of June and July 2026, three major planetary ingresses are happening. And I don't think I've ever seen this before where three such major ingresses happen in the same period of just over one month in just June and July.

Chiron in Taurus, healing wounds, the deep core, real deep wounds of wealth, worth, and the body to actually have a felt sense of safety, becoming wealthy, holding your power, holding your worth, and being a radiant, luscious being in your body, earth angel energy, healing past the wounds to really step into the earth angel energy. Then Jupiter in Leo, the planet of luck, abundance, and opportunity, entering Leo, the side of visibility, joy, the artist, the creator, the performer, the dancer, the actor. The person speaking on stages, the person stepping in fully to their power, who's also a generous leader who leads from the heart. And then the North Node of destiny enters into Aquarius, the sacred rebel, visionary, and revolutionary. This is all about your new earth leadership.

I have chills all over my body right now. All of these planets have completed, well, they're not all planets, sorry, but these celestial bodies. You know, the North Node's not actually a body, but anyway, don't mind my technical language though.

These cycles are totally different timelines. Okay. Jupiter takes 12 years to go all the way around. Chiron takes between 48 and 52 years to go all the way around. And the North Node takes just under 20 years to go all the way around. For all of them to align like this in June and July, in the specific archetypes that they're bringing up, wealth, worth, and the body, art, being seen, visibility, joyousness, claiming the lives we really desire.

Claiming the bigness of your destiny and then also healing the wounds that have been holding you back from truly claiming that. And then the cherry on top of the whole cake is the North Node entering Aquarius, the sign of revolutionary leadership. This is no joke. This is the fucking game changer. I'm so, honestly, I can cry from how honoured I am to be teaching these classes to my community. So there is the bundle, the abundance awakening bundle. That is also within the show notes.

I'm so excited. Huge welcome to everyone who's been joining over the past weeks. And I cannot wait to see you on Wednesday, June 17th. If you're listening to this after, no worries. The replay is available and this transit goes until 2033. So no worries if you are listening to this in the future. The information of Chiron in Taurus and that healing journey is still absolutely just as profound if you're watching the replay in the future. So thank you so much. Thank you for being a listener to the podcast. I'm so honoured to do this work and I'm so glad that you're here. Thank you and take care.
